

Clyde Sousley Being Tried In Murder Case

Accused Arrested After Parts Of A Skeleton Found

FULTON, Mo., Feb. 22.—(P)—With bits of a human skeleton providing a macabre touch to the case, a battery of four prosecutors opened the trial today of Clyde Sousley, charged with murder in the disappearance of Dave Nebel, a farmer northeast of Versailles.

Oliver W. Nolan, assistant attorney-general and chief of the prosecution, indicated he would ask the death penalty for Sousley in his opening statement to the circuit court jury.

Most of the morning session was taken up in arguing defense motions to abate the information and suppress evidence, both of which were overruled by Judge W. M. Dinwiddie. Selection of the jurors began only a few minutes before the noon recess.

Assisting Nolan in the trial are Frederic Allebach, another assistant attorney-general, and prosecuting attorneys Henry Lamkin of Callaway county and G. Logan Marr of Morgan county. The trial was brought here on a change of venue from Morgan county.

Accidental discovery of the human bones near the Lake of the Ozarks led to the filing of murder charges against Sousley last November. Nebel had been missing since February 24, 1937.

Made Grim Find

Clyde Stevenson of Rosedale, hunting for walnuts and persimmons while visiting the lake, made the grim find of a skull and leg bones. He reported his discovery to Sheriff Met Hughes, who recalled Nebel's disappearance.

Last summer a grand jury had investigated the case and questioned Sousley. He was dismissed as a witness and later moved to Blackburn, where he was arrested by the state highway patrol.

At a preliminary hearing in November, his attorney contended there was no positive proof the skeleton was Nebel's and no motive had been established.

Claim Narcotics Chief Is Held

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 22.—(P)—Federal narcotics agents claimed today they had ended a seven months' chase by placing behind bars the "brains" of a $12,000,000 a year narcotics ring which centered in Kansas City.

Joe Olivio, alias Joe Oliver, was the man they described as kingpin of the organization they previously had said was headed by Angelo Donnici. First public knowledge of Olivio's connection with the ring came late yesterday when he appeared in federal court and pleaded guilty to an indictment returned secretly last July. He was sentenced to five years in prison by Judge John Caskie Collet.

Narcotics officers said they had previously said Donnici was head of the organization in an effort to keep from Olivio the knowledge he was being trailed.

They said the ring operated out of New York, Chicago, Kansas City and Houston, Tex. Olivio had personal charge of the Kansas City and Houston branches, said Assistant District Attorney Richard K. Phelps.

Tribute Paid At Valley Forge

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., Feb. 22.—(P)—Reverent thousands assembled today at the place where General Washington spent perhaps the least cheerful of his birthdays.

Traditional ceremonies by patriotic groups were held at the Valley Forge shrine, commemorating the travail of George Washington and his ragged soldiers when they wintered here while General Howe and his redcoats enjoyed the comforts of nearby Philadelphia.

Washington was 46 then. His headquarters—a colonial stone house near the banks of the Schuylkill river—today was thronged with visitors.

Would Pull Ship To Deep Water

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 22.—(P)—The 5,869-ton German passenger ship Wiegand was reported today to have arrived in Gjøssingford, Norway, to determine whether it was possible to pull into deep water the stranded prison ship Almark.

Divers continued to search the waters for a German sailor listed as missing and believed to have drowned during Friday night's conflict, in which British seamen from the destroyer Cossack boarded the Almark and released her British merchantmen prisoners.

No Delay In Applications For Assistance

Haworth Declares They Are Accepted As They Come In

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 22.—(P)—An assertion by House Leader Roy Hamlin (D) Hannibal, that old age pension seekers were being forced to delay their applications until June met a prompt denial by social security headquarters today.

Hamlin wrote Attorney General Roy McKittick that the Hannibal social security office was "refusing to give applications for old age assistance to persons 65 or over unless they are on relief until June first."

McKittick said such a practice would be illegal and urged those affected to "appeal to the courts"—but Social Security Administrator George I. Haworth said "no such order ever has been issued."

"Nobody Put Off"
"We are accepting applications as they come in," Haworth said. "Nobody is being put off. Why, in January we accepted 18,807 applications and disposed of 5,567 of that number—in addition to taking over WPA certification, handling a relief emergency and adding to our aid to dependent children program."

"At Hannibal, I understand, we are up to date with our applications," Haworth added.

When the age limit was lowered the commission first took oldsters off direct relief, but Haworth said that required little time since they were known to be destitute and it was a mere matter of verifying their age.

In the opinion to Hamlin in the attorney general's office "assumed" the delay order had been made and said "the legislature never contemplated that the state social security commission should refuse to permit any person to file his application for six months after the request for file was made."

"There might be some extenuating circumstances," Haworth said. (Please turn to page 3, col. 6)

G. C. Smith Seeks Nomination For Secretary of State

Grover Cleveland Smith, of Jefferson City, Democratic candidate for the nomination for secretary of state, was calling on friends in Sedalia today. Mr. Smith is a shoe salesman who has called on Sedalia shoe dealers for many years.

Befuddling The Taxpayers

If Jefferson City passes its $200,000.00 bond issue for a new municipal building to house the Unemployment Commission offices, the taxpayers might as well be told that they will have to pay for the building and not get the cost back by obtaining from the commission $1,000,000 or more monthly rental.

Jefferson City campaigners are befogging the atmosphere by contending that their town will be ruined if the commission is allowed to move out. There is no indication that the Capitol City people will be hurt. There will be no general exodus of state departments. About the only thing that will happen is a stoppage of an ancient payroll grab that line the pockets of many who already have plenty of material possession down in the Capitol City. The solicited interest of the campaigners on behalf of the Jefferson City taxpayers is a smoke screen. When before have the monied interests worn the mantle of meekness?

Taxpayers out-state approve of Sedalia's proposition of NO RENT as a means of tax economy. This fact, and also how fearful Jefferson City is of losing the commission, is revealed in a story in their own newspaper:

"Sedalia, as Jefferson City's closest competitor in the wide-flung race to secure location of the commission and its half-million-dollar annual payroll, is being favored in most out-state editorial comment."

"Clippings from newspapers throughout the state failed to reveal a single champion for Jefferson City's right to retain the department."

"The fact that this city is playing a lone hand in the game has had one favorable result, John Guy Gibson, bond campaign chairman, said today."

Still Repel The Soviets In Their Fierce Attacks

Heavy Losses Are Inflicted On The Hordes Of Reds

BY THOMAS F. HAWKINS
HELSINKI, Feb. 22.—(P)—The Red army's hammering at the Mannerheim Line still is being repelled with heavy Russian losses, Finland announced today as she called up a new batch of older men to bolster her forces and placed faith in a February blizzard to help hold back the Soviet military machine.

Two thousand Russian soldiers were killed at Taipale, eastern sector of the fortifications planted to plug the isthmus avenue from Russia, the Finns said, acknowledging, however, that fighting on the western end had reached the Kamara railway station.

The Red army attack near the Kamara railway station, a communication center 12 miles south-east of Viipuri on the Karelian Isthmus, was repulsed, the Finnish high command reported today.

The Russians lost 2,000 dead in continued fighting at Taipale, at the eastern end of the Isthmus defense line, the communique declared.

Today's was the first admission by the Finns that fighting had reached the neighborhood of Kamara, although the Russians previously had reported their forces driving through that station on the main isthmus railway to Viipuri.

The Finnish command declared that the fighting on both sides of the Mannerheim system across the Isthmus had raged far into last night.

Tanks Were Destroyed
A large number of tanks were reported destroyed, and 13 Red army planes shot down.

The communique said more Russian strong points and 200 prisoners were captured on the battlefield northeast of Lake Ladoga, where earlier this week the Red army's 18th Division was reported destroyed.

With a blizzard raising Finnish hopes of stopping the Russian military machine, Finland called the classes of 1894 and 1895—men 44 to 46 years old—to report to mobilization centers. The three preceding classes were mobilized last week.

The Finnish high command reported new scouting flights behind the Soviet lines and bombing raids on Red army troops by night.

In continued aerial activity over the war zone, the Finns said several Russian formations with as many as 50 planes each had been sighted.

Speakers To Admit Women

At a meeting of the Speakers Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce last night a motion was made and carried to admit women to the Bureau. An amendment to the club constitution was made so that they could be admitted.

Mrs. Ruth Riley, president of the Business and Professional Women's club submitted the following list of names of women that will join the bureau:

Miss Betty Field, Miss Bertha Rose, Miss Marguerite O'Connell, Miss Joanne Lynne, Miss Jaunita Gerhart, Miss Mary Johnson, Mrs. Marie A. Spendiff, Miss Sarah Yarnell, Miss Juanita Young, Miss Hortense Neighbors and Miss Virginia Rose.

It was announced, that the bureau will have Dale Carnegie as luncheon guest March 12.

Local Merchants In Cartoons

One hundred and seventy-eight business men and women of Sedalia will be featured in cartoon sketches that will occupy two pages of the Democrat and Capital tomorrow. (Friday.) They represent twenty-seven different firms.

The sketching of these men and women was done by the art department of The Postlethwaite Co., of Kansas City. Louie Hardt of this organization has spent the past several weeks in this community calling upon these men and catching them in their characteristic poses.

You will enjoy this feature. See how many of the men and women you can identify. There are cash prizes and Liberty Theatre tickets for those who make the most identifications.

Many Attend Industry Meet

Businessmen Hear Discussions Of Various Laws

About 75 local business men interested in the problems affecting industry, gathered at the Hotel Bothwell Wednesday afternoon to hear discussions by men connected with the Associated Industries of Missouri, concerning the Unemployment Compensation law, Wage and Hour act and bills before Congress.

The meeting started at 4:30 o'clock, followed by a banquet at 6:30. Charles M. Van Dyne, vice-president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, who presided, turned the meeting over to Elmer Donnell, of St. Louis, executive vice-president of the state Associated Industries, who discussed bills before Congress.

Ralph T. Compton of St. Louis, director of research, and one of the best informed men in the state on the unemployment compensation law, talked on "How Business May Protect Itself Under Its Provisions."

C. S. Cullenbine, director of industrial relations, spoke on the Wage and Hour Act and its interpretations. This was the first meeting of the organization in Sedalia and it was well attended by local business men.

J. C. Patterson In Kiwanis Talk

J. C. Patterson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Marshall, was the guest speaker at the noonday meeting of the Kiwanis club, at Hotel Bothwell today.

Mr. Patterson's theme was unity of purpose, and he mentioned the fact that it is quite noticeable, outside of Sedalia, the unity of Sedalians in working for civic improvements. It is only by harmony and all working together that cities grow, he said.

Paul Hedderich, club president, opened the meeting and presided over the business session. John Cameron, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Jack Crawford was a guest.

Ralph Billings Is Improved Today

Ralph Billings, Smith-Cotton high school senior and cheer leader, who suffered injuries when struck by a snowball, believed to have had a rock in the center, is improved today, but is still a patient at the Bothwell hospital.

The boy was struck in the eye and it was believed the vision might have been destroyed, but this morning he is able to see a little and the attending physicians are more hopeful.

Auto Balanced Atop Hydrant

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Feb. 22.—(P)—Patrolman Henry Williams today found an automobile balanced atop a fire hydrant. The center of the chassis rested on the plug and there were no marks on the car to show effects of a collision.

The driver who sat behind the steering wheel was unable to explain how the car got there. He remembered nothing after taking a few drinks last night, he told the police court. He was fined $25 for reckless driving and sentenced to 30 days in jail for driving while intoxicated.

"It looked impossible for the car to get there without flying," the officer testified.

Fire Damages Auto

The fire companies at 10:22 o'clock this morning were called to Fourth street and Lamine avenue where a 1938 Ford car belonging to the Barnard Motor Co., caught fire from backfire. Slight damage resulted.

Aviation Parley Here Thursday

The next state activity here to be sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce is the Missouri State Aviation conference, which will be held on Thursday, February 29, beginning with a lunch at 12 o'clock noon.

Presiding will be William R. Courtney, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Aviation committee. C. R. Mooney, Kansas City, secretary of the southwest division of the Air Congress of America, is in charge of the program.

The purposes of the meeting are to draft a program of state aviation needs as it relates to the national government, to state problems, and to work to WPA aid on airports and other aeronautical measures in Missouri, to set up a state association or organize the Missouri department of the National Aeronautic Association, and to enlist Missouri in the Air Congress campaign to establish feeders on mail lines in this region.

U. S. Aviator Freed In Spain

Harold E. Dahl Spared From Death Is Coming Home

MADRID, Feb. 22.—(P)—The United States embassy announced today that the last eight American citizens held as Spanish civil war prisoners, including Harold E. Dahl, Champaign, Ill., flier had been released and would start soon for home.

Dahl and two of the Americans, Clarence Alvie Blair of Red Granite, Wis., and Cohn Haber of New York, already are at Seville. They are to sail for New York aboard the Exiria tomorrow.

Due at Seville today and also scheduled to sail on the Exiria were Lawrence Fant Doran, Los Angeles; Anthony Peter Hehrlich, Polk county, Iowa, and Rudolph Opara, Cleveland.

Orders also were given for the release of Alf Abdrassen, born in Bergen, Norway, and a naturalized American, and Conrad Stojewa, believed to be a Californian. It was unknown here, however, whether they would be able to reach Seville in time to sail on the Exiria.

The release of these last prisoners, who had fought for the defeated Republican government brought to an end a long diplomatic tussle in which the United States had been involved. (Please turn to page 3, col. 4)

Read Farewell Of Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—George Washington's 144-year-old "farewell address," read to the house today in the traditional observance of the first president's birthday anniversary, touched on at least three topics currently before the nation—trade, foreign alliances and the third term.

The house set aside its legislative tasks for the day to hear one of its oldest Republican members, Rep. Frank Crowther of New York, read the historic document.

Public galleries were well-filled but the diplomatic gallery was vacant although Rep. Sweeney (D-Ohio) had invited Lord Lothian, the British ambassador to attend. Sweeney said that in view of the presence of British agents in this country "seeking to embroil our nation in the European war," it might be timely for the ambassador to hear Washington's views on foreign alliances.

About thirty members of the senate were on hand to hear the reading of the Washington address by Senator Burke (D-Neb.).

Fatally Beaten At State Prison

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 22.—(P)—Fred Hamilton, 35-year-old state prison convict, was killed today by a fellow convict who rushed into his cell at the morning mess call and beat him to death with a milk bottle.

Warden Tom Scott said Allen Watson, who occupied a cell adjoining that of Hamilton, was being held for the attack. He was under guard in the prison hospital.

Scott said the two convicts argued most of last night, when the cells were unlocked this morning Watson dashed out of his cell, grabbed up the milk bottle and attacked Hamilton. Hamilton died in the prison hospital.

Scott said Watson, received at the prison in 1933 for robbery, killed another convict, Dewey Byum, in 1935, and was given a 15-year sentence for that crime.

Hamilton was received January 13, 1936, to serve 10 years for burglary and larceny from Lawrence county. Scott said his record also included terms in the Kansas reformatory and prison.

Censorship On U. S. Mail Is A Vexing Thing

Situation Being Complicated Over Recent Incidents

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—Senators critical of British censorship of United States airmail at Bermuda—a censorship enforced in one instance by armed marines—reinforced their protests today with new demands for prohibiting American planes from landing at Bermuda.

Senator Truman (D-Mo.) proposed that flights to the island be stopped and said also that English planes should be barred from landing in the United States.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.) said latest disclosures bearing on the situation "only strengthen my view that we should prohibit our planes from landing at Bermuda," and Senator Schwellenbach (D-Wash.) asserted that "if England doesn't watch out, she will bring about a condition of definite antagonism to herself."

British marines with fixed bayonets, it was learned last night, forced the first surrender of United States airmail at Bermuda January 18 after Capt. Charles A. Lorber of Baltimore, commanding a Pan-American Airways plane bound for Lisbon, had first refused to turn over the pouches to British authorities.

BY ANDRUE BERDING
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—A virtual deadlock over censorship of American mails has developed between the state department and Great Britain and France, with one incident after another to complicate the situation.

It was learned last night that British marines with fixed bayonets brought about the first seizure of trans-Atlantic airmail at Bermuda on January 18.

Capt. Charles A. Lorber of Baltimore, commanding a Pan-American Airways plane flying between the United States and Lisbon, had refused to surrender the mail to British censors. The show of armed force followed.

Authoritative sources at London attributed the incident to a (Please turn to page 3, col. 5)

Statement By Head Of Guild

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—Kenneth Crawford, American newspaper guild president, told the house labor committee today that the guild believed "the closed shop is necessary" for its continued growth and for stabilization of working conditions.

He disputed a statement by Oliver Holden, American Press society representative, that the closed shop tended to interfere with freedom of the press.

Clifford said that the phrase "closed shop" was a misnomer, asserting that the guild sought "guild shops" under which employers hire whom they please, but the new worker must become a guild member in 30 days.

"We've been victimized by that freedom of the press argument since the first day of the NRA," Crawford said. "It is said that it affected the freedom of the press to place any regulation on their operations any place along the line."

George Washington Close Observer On The Weather

By W. B. RAGSDALE
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—George Washington probably has written more words about the weather than any man who ever lived save for a weather forecaster.

His diary, which he kept for 40-odd of his 67 years, often ran through stretches of a whole week during which only notes about the weather were recorded.

Probably the last thing he ever wrote was such a notation. It was on December 13, 1799: "Morning snowing and about 3 inches deep. Wind at no. et. and mer. at 30. Contg. Snowing til 1 o'clock, and abt. 4 it became perfectly clear. Wind in the same place but not hard. Mer. 28 at night!"

The general had good reason to notice the snow that day. The previous day he had ridden out to his farms. He came in after a five hour ride, wet and covered with snow.

Dinner was waiting, and he ate without changing from his wet clothes. Next morning, he com-

Father Convinced Son Not Guilty

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Feb. 22.—(P)—O. Q. Clafin, attorney, said today he was firmly convinced his son, John, 21, Kansas University senior, was not involved in a series of fires last week at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house at Lawrence.

County Attorney Milton Beach said yesterday at Lawrence that he had a statement signed by John in which the young man admitted starting four fires.

Poll Indicates Victory For Trade Treaty

Close Margin Is Expected When It Reaches A Vote

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(P)—An administration poll was said authoritatively today to have indicated that the senate would approve continuation of the reciprocal trade program by a close margin.

The poll, conducted quietly by Senators Barkley (D-Ky.) Harrison (D-Miss) and Byrnes (D-SC), was described in administration quarters as disclosing that if all 96 senators answered the roll call, 49 would oppose an amendment to require senate ratification of the trade agreements, 41 would favor it, and the votes of 6 would be in doubt.

Since the opposition is expected to reach its maximum strength on the ratification amendment, supporters said they were confident of final approval of the program. The administrative strategists did not count on any senate Republicans to vote for the program.

The house will vote tomorrow on the legislation, sidetracking business today for observance of George Washington's birthday anniversary.

Attention To Barton Speech

House Democratic leaders predicted that not more than 25 Democrats would vote against the extension bill. They pointed to a speech in New York last night by Rep. Barton (R-NY) in support of the program as an indication that Republican opposition would not be solid.

Same Old Taxes Finance Relief

American cities stolidly refuse to admit that relief is here to stay.

In a small and inoffensive way, relief has always been administered in this country. Most people didn't even know about it before 1929. It was generally believed that if anyone was so unfortunate as to be without funds, fate, in the form of a benevolent welfare agency or a wealthy distant cousin, would be on hand to supply soup and things until the crisis passed. While municipal relief was not exactly managed out of the petty cash till, its inroads on the financial operations were usually slight enough to be overlooked by the general public. The money was taken from the normal tax sources and scarcely ever became too severe a burden for the city.

Times have changed.

The No. 1 headache for practically every councilman in every city during the past 10 years has been relief. The same depression that brought relief clients pounding at aldermanic doors in unprecedented numbers also made it difficult for property owners to settle up their tax accounts. Since 1930, most city governments have been abnormally occupied with figuring out means of making budgets stretch to accommodate the new relief costs.

In most cases, states and the federal government helped. PWA and WPA, along with their predecessors, provided for some of the indigents; but even these agencies had to be supported partially by community funds.

Few cities have conceded that relief is to be a permanent accoutrement to municipal financing. Relief costs are calculated from year to year, with funds being earmarked out of the regular budget. Sometimes the money doesn't quite stretch, and year-end crises result. With a few exceptions, all the funds, used to pay for municipal relief, are coming from the same sources that were drawn upon before relief became a problem.

Four cities—New York, San Francisco, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Erie, Pa.—have developed new taxes to take care of relief. New York, last year, financed 85 per cent of its relief through current revenues from cigaret, sales, business, utility and conduit taxes. Grand Rapids managed to collect 55 per cent of its relief costs from special sources and San Francisco, 40 per cent.

Many cities take care of this item by floating municipal bonds. But bonds must be redeemed eventually, so the solution is only temporary. Unless new forms of taxes are adopted, the burden will eventually fall upon the property owners.

The gravity of relief problems decreases, of course, as general business conditions improve. The situation today is much better than it was six years ago. But it is improbable that the problem will ever vanish entirely.

No Immunity For Neutrals

Both Britain and Germany are reading the Riot Act to befuddled Norway as a result of the Altmark incident.

It doesn't matter who's right according to international law, because this code of nations, during war, is pretty much like gangland ethics. The act of war itself is a gross violation of fundamental rules of conduct, and any gentleman's code to govern butchery is a bitter travesty.

The victim of criminal acts is, of course, Norway; and Britain and Germany together share the guilt for bringing the war and its legal problems into Norwegian waters. It is not fair to project neutrals into the dispute.

If there must be war, the best way to conduct it, if it were possible, would be to rope off areas somewhere strictly within the belligerents' own territories and then to send the armies in with a final, if futile, admonition not to hit below the belt.

Retailers Are Optimistic

When the Chicago Association of Commerce finished tabulating orders placed during the past few weeks by 18,000 jobbers who attended the city's 20-odd annual trade shows, officials announced cheerfully that business had jumped by 15 per cent over that of the preceding year.

Brisk holiday trade generally accounted for the enthusiasm with which buyers from all over the United States and Canada were turning in orders. Encouraged by the business turn-over, around Christmas, retailers foresee continuation of favorable conditions during the year rather than a let-down.

It is a healthy indication. The last persons in the world to be led too easily along paths of false optimism are the retailers, who would find themselves hopelessly stuck if business collapsed while they carried large inventories in their storehouses.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—There was a great deal more than appeared in the headlines behind the Swedish announcement of no help to Finland. Actually, the Swedes were ready to go much further, even throw their whole weight into the war against Russia. But they got no encouragement from the Allies.

What happened was this. On February 7, Daladier and Chamberlain met in Paris, where the French premier urged that the Allies come to the immediate rescue of Finland with actual troops. He pointed out that Finland was sure to crumble unless she received material aid, and that with the German and French armies stymied along the West Wall, it would be a good idea to create a second front where the armies could get at each other.

Chamberlain said he would take the matter under consideration and went back to London. Next day, the Swedes and Norwegians informed the Allies that since it would take some time for French and British troops to reach Finland, they—the Scandinavians—would be willing to give immediate and major aid to Finland provided they had a hard-and-fast pledge from the Allies that they would support them in case Germany attacked from the rear. In other words, the Scandinavian countries would throw their armies outright into the war against Russia and the French and British would send troops to help keep the Germans out of Scandinavia.

This also Chamberlain took under advisement.

British Procrastination
A week dragged by. Part of another week. Confidential reports from the Finnish front for some time told that the Mannerheim line was crumbling. Finnish troops were exhausted. They had been fighting continually with almost no rest.

However, Chamberlain and the British cabinet still debated.

Meanwhile the Nazis had learned what was proposed, and began to bring pressure on Sweden and Norway. They were warned that cooperation with France and Britain in aiding Finland would bring a direct attack on them by Germany.

The Swedes and Norwegians, however, still waited for London. Finally, last week, Chamberlain acted. But all he did, however, was permit recruiting of British volunteers to Finland. This was so mild a move compared with what was discussed, that the Swedes were disgusted.

The risk of war with Germany without Allied aid was too much. Sweden announced that she could not aid Finland.

War Notes

Sweden is now dickering with Germany regarding aid to stop Russia, when and if that country moves through Finland and tries to overrun Sweden. . . . Germany doesn't want Russia in Sweden any more than she wants the British there—in fact she would like to dominate Sweden herself. Result is that the Nazis are driving a hard bargain. They propose to stop Russia if Sweden will sell all her high grade iron ore to Germany, none to Britain. . . . Britain may have let the Finns down, but it was Britain also who coked up the Finns last October and encouraged them not to yield to Russia.

"Dewey Unlaxed"
When Tom Dewey arrived in Portland, Oregon, for his Lincoln Day address, he called a press conference and told assembled journalists the first thing they would tackle was the pictures. He posed for several flashes, then announced that the press conference proper would start.

However, one photographer, Ralph Vincent of The Portland Journal, took a few additional candid camera shots, to which Dewey objected. "See here, young man," said the youngest presidential candidate, "I can't relax as long as you keep snapping those things in my face."

Unabashed, the irrepressible Vincent, turned to Lem Jones, Dewey's secretary. "That's what I like about Roosevelt," he barked in a stage whisper. "He cooperates."

Third Term
The recent Republican National Committee meeting in Washington gave no indication of a swing to any one GOP presidential candidate, but party chieftains have made up their minds about the man they will have to beat in November.

The GOP high command now is going seriously on the assumption that President Roosevelt will seek a third term and is mapping campaign plans accordingly. This was the keynote of the National Committee meeting here, the specter that haunted every discussion behind closed doors, over luncheon tables, tavern bars and in hotel lobbies.

Omens which have influenced this conclusion in the minds of party leaders are: First—the president's switching of the Thanksgiving date. GOP heavy thinkers argue that in breaking this "sacred" tradition, Roosevelt was "conditioning" the voting public for the overturn of another.

Second—the "weak sister" type of Democratic candidates being promoted as Roosevelt successors. Some GOP-ers believe that Hull, McNutt, et al, are "clay pigeon" candidates put up for purpose of "unflattering comparison" with the president.

Another third term harbinger raised in executive session of the National Committee is the "waning hope for peace" in Europe, which plays right into the hands of third term advocates.

The Pettis county bar paid tribute to the memory of George Washington, the "Father of His Country" at the circuit court room this forenoon, many of the prominent citizens of Sedalia, including a large number of women, being present to enjoy the programme prepared by a committee composed of John Montgomery, Jr., George W. Barnett and John D. Bohling.

E. J. Warner, boiler-maker at the Missouri Pacific shops, had a $10 laprobe stolen from his house, which was hitched in front of Dexter's bookstore, between 7 and 8 o'clock last evening.

The handsomely decorated Liberty Park hall was ablaze with lights and presented a scene of beauty and gaiety last night, for the concert, supper and ball given by the Ancient Order of United Workmen, meeting in convention here, and its auxiliary, the Degree of Honor.

County Treasurer Robert E. Ferguson is today celebrating his birthday anniversary.

Yesterday I told about Beulah Louise Henry, the greatest woman inventor, who has fifty-nine patents in her name. Without money she came to New York from a small North Carolina town, and rose to the top in her profession.

She is called the "Lady Edison." Here are what she calls the "5 Golden Rules for Inventors." She claims that if you will follow them they may make you thousands of dollars.

1. If you hit on an idea, but find that it is neither practical, commercial, nor salable, drop it.

2. The moment you get an idea, act on it. Write a rough description of your idea as you understand it. Also make a pencil drawing. Date the drawing. Sign it. Then make a model of the device. You can make this out of anything—toothpicks, adhesive tape, hairpins; anything that comes to hand.

3. Submit your idea to a patent attorney. If you are not financially able to do this, or if there is no patent attorney available, have your statement witnessed and notarized. Some inexperienced inventors try a shortcut, writing a letter to themselves describing the idea then sending it to themselves by registered mail. This is not adequate protection. If a lawsuit arose you would find that this action would not be of much help.

4. You are now ready to proceed. Have a search made in the patent office to learn whether such a device has already been patented. The cost will vary from $10 to $100. Don't neglect this, for if you do you may weep bitter tears.

Remember that a device once patented can never be patented again. In other words, the patent rights on an invention may have expired or may never have been developed, but that makes no difference, for when a patent expires the idea is then in what is called the "public domain" and any one may use it. Another thing to remember is that the life of a patent is 17 years, so you must get as much out of it as possible within that time.

"If we don't win that barn dance contest tonight it won't be because we didn't have enough practice."

1940 Washington Wears Profile Of Uncle George

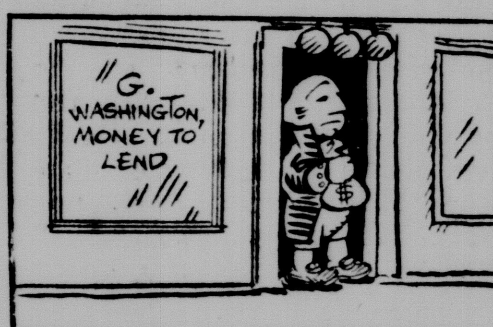

Descended by direct line of seven generations from the first President's brother, Selden Washington bears marked resemblance in profile to George Washington. Selden lives in Alexandria, Va., near Mt. Vernon, and has never had political aspirations. The Washington bust was made in 1785 by Jeanne Houdon.

Washington Confused About Own Birthday

George Washington wasn't quite sure of his own birthday, so he didn't celebrate the occasion during his later years. He was born February 11, 1732, but a subsequent calendar revision, which changed the date to Feb. 22, left him confused as to whether it was the 11th, 12th or 22nd, so he just tried to forget the whole thing.

Washington was worth $2,000,000; owned 110,000 acres of land, 500 slaves and the largest distillery in the country. He made much of his fortune as a money lender and was first in the U. S. to use the present system of collateral security.

His great-great-grandfather, an English minister, was turned out of his parish by parliament because he was "a common frequenter of ale houses, not only himself sitting daily tipping there, but also encouraging others in that beastly vice."

A great host, the president entertained 3,835 guests, serving 17,691 meals at Mt. Vernon during 14 years.

Inventive, Washington once designed a 16-sided barn, and used a plow of his own creation. He helped design the Potomac canal that still exists.

General Washington received no salary during the war, but turned in a $60,000 expense account, only part of which was paid. He served without pay as president, and spent $50,000 putting up a front those eight years.

Washington was the ninth U. S. president, not the first. Eight other men styled themselves "President of the United States" under the Articles of Confederation. He was the first under the constitution.

Washington both drank and swore. He is on record as setting up the drinks for the boys during election periods. As a military leader, he cursed like a cavalryman.

In his "110 Rules of Civility," Washington as a boy prescribed that you should "talk not with meat in your mouth, cleanse not your teeth with the table cloth, napkin, fork or knife . . . but with a pick tooth; and if you cough, sneeze, sigh or yawn . . . put your handkerchief before your face and turn aside."

A political group once offered Washington the job of being king of the country, but he turned the offer down in a rage.

Mrs. Marjorie Paul

Mrs. Marjorie Paul, wife of Oscar Paul, Knob Noster, passed away at the Bothwell hospital about 9:38 o'clock Wednesday night. Death was due to pneumonia.

Mrs. Paul, who was twenty-five years old, underwent a Caesarean operation about two weeks ago giving birth to a son. Her condition apparently was getting along as well as could be expected when she developed pneumonia.

Mrs. Paul was born March 16, 1914, south of Knob Noster.

Surviving her besides her husband and infant son is her father, Frank Bailey.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church in Knob Noster with the Reverend Farley officiating.

Pallbearers will be the following friends: Cliff Everts, Percy Nace, Elvis May, O'Bannon Marshall, Frank House, and Pete Bagby.

Interment will be in the Pleasant Grove cemetery, six miles south of Knob Noster.

Funeral of Mrs. Farris

Funeral services for Mrs. Nanette I. Wasson Farris, 70 years old, who passed away at her home, 309 North Quincy avenue, at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, will be conducted at the Gillespie Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Reverend R. W. Leazer, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate.

Pallbearers will be six grandsons.

Interment will be in the Mt. Herman cemetery.

The body will remain at the funeral home until time for the services.

Surviving Mrs. Farris besides previously mentioned children is a stepson, Arthur Wasson, of North Grand avenue.

Four Hour Chase Of A Rabid Dog

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—(AP)—In an impassioned four-hour chase that had touches of the old "wild west" days, a score of policemen and some 50 shouting civilians ran down and killed last night a dog, believed mad, which bit 18 persons.

More than 50 shots were fired at the animal as it led pursuers up and down icy, hilly streets in the Overbrook and Carrick residential sections, in a wild scene uncommon to city streets.

As cries of "mad dog" were broadcast, citizens armed with any weapon at hand—ranging from baseball bats to shotguns—left their homes to join firemen and patrolmen racing after the fleet animal, which left women and children bitten and screaming in its path.

Besides the cars of the volunteer possemen, five radio patrol cars and five police motorcycles augmented the hunt over a two-mile radius.

When police finally cornered the dog, a shotgun blast failed to bring him down. But one shot from the revolver of another officer did the trick.

A policeman was slightly injured when he tried to run over the dog, but instead skidded around and struck a taxicab.

All of the 18 known persons bitten, many of them children, were given immediate treatment by physicians and instructed to report again today for further examination. None had serious lacerations, but in many cases their clothing was torn.

The body of the dog, a large brown mongrel, was taken to a hospital for examination to determine if it had rabies.

All dogs in the city have been under quarantine for several weeks.

Accusation On A Prosecutor

DETROIT, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Gambing conspiracy indictments against Wayne county's own prosecutor, Duncan C. McCrea, and 18 other men set in motion today a police search for him and other defendants characterized as "missing."

Long rumored to be aiming at "high places," Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson's one man grand jury last night accused Prosecutor McCrea; Fred W. Frahm, former police superintendent, and four policemen of conspiring to operate a $1,000,000-a-year baseball pool. The indictments climaxed six months of investigation into the gambling and alleged police graft.

Only last month Frahm, accused of "neglect of duty," was fired by the new police commissioner, Frank D. Eaman, in one of a series of shakeup moves which came to be called "Eaman's earthquake."

Since last fall Judge Ferguson, empowered under Michigan law to act alone as a grand jury, has been examining suspected gamblers and underworld figures. Two detectives, involved in a "fixed" hold-up, have served jail terms for contempt. A police official was similarly penalized.

smashing at both extremities of the Mannerheim Line while maintaining active pressure along its whole length, emphasized today the Finnish problem of defense with thin-spread forces everywhere numerically inferior.

After concentrating near the western end of the line on the Karelian Isthmus and forcing Finnish withdrawal to new positions, the Red army was reported to have thrown two divisions (apparently 30,000 to 35,000 men) against the Taipale sector, eastern terminus of the fortified zone.

The Finns said that despite strong artillery and aircraft support, the attackers were hurled back, and denied at the same time that the Russians had captured Koivisto, the line's big "anchor" battery on the Gulf of Finland.

(A Russian communique declared "nothing of importance" occurred at the front, but that 176 Finnish defensive fortifications had been taken in the past three days, "including the Koivisto fortress area.")

(Soviet planes "acted against the enemy's troops and military objectives," the communique said, and 16 Finnish planes were shot down in combat.)

Despite a blizzard, Soviet bombers continued to raid Finnish cities and towns yesterday.

Caught In Raid

Wade Werner, chief of the Associated Press staff in Finland, was caught in one of these raids at a railroad station 50 miles west of Sortavala.

The town, unnamed for military reasons, already was a jumble of wrecked and burning buildings from five night raids when he arrived yesterday, Werner said.

Nevertheless, he had hardly stepped from the platform of a cafe when the bombers returned.

"It seemed incredible, after all the damage they had done the night before," he said, "but I took shelter in the woods with some townspeople. We had spent most of the previous night jumping out of the train and standing in the snow during similar alarms."

A half hour later, the clear signal was given, but a new alarm sounded almost immediately as 35 bombers appeared.

After the second dash to the woods, Werner said he resolved to run no more. So for the successive returns of the bombers he alternately ducked under freight cars and crawled into culverts with other train passengers.

There were four such raids on this one small town in three hours, he said, but finally the slightly damaged train managed to pull out under the cloak of a fresh snowstorm.

Financing Start For Triplets

ELDON, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Civic and church organizations of Eldon are winding up a week of card parties, dances and other functions sponsored to finance a start in life for the Payne triplets of Bagnell.

The festive week was inaugurated last Friday, first birthday anniversary of Peggy Virginia, Harry Edmon and Larry Joe Payne. The youngsters, not knowing the problem they have created, celebrated in comparative quiet with a single candle cake baked for them by Mrs. L. J. Schneider in whose home for convalescents they have spent most of their first year.

But citizens of this Ozark town got busy. They agreed when the children were about a month old and their parents were unable to care for them to take over their first year of life as a civic responsibility.

Much of the debt incurred as a result remained unpaid and it was to meet those payments that social functions were planned.

"The welfare of the triplets is at stake," said Fred Bommer the chairman of the committee in charge of the triplets' fund. "Their parents have absolutely no means to support them. Let's all prove ourselves big hearted and contribute a dollar this week as a birthday present to the triplets."

On April 1, according to the original agreement between Eldon citizens and Mr. and Mrs. Cy Payne, the children's parents, the triplets will be sent back home.

Founder Of Boy Scouts 83 Today

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The founder of the Boy Scouts, Lord Baden-Powell, 83 years old today, finds old age "rippling."

In a message to the scout movement, he added that he feels much the same as the late Duke of Cambridge when the latter, well over 80, observed: "Because I'm a bit gone in the knees they think my brain is correspondingly weak. I'll show 'em."

Liked Outdoor Life

He liked horseback riding, hunting, horse shows, races, card games fox hunting, cock fighting and theatrical performances. . . in his middle years, he lost more than he won at cards. From 1772 to 1775, when he played at home, at Fredericksburg with friends, at Williamsburg with legislators, at Annapolis and elsewhere, he lost $390 and won $360—or a net loss of $30 for the four years. . . His fox hunting was for fun, not foxes.

Now and then his diary records as many as five fox hunts on successive days. Often it notes, "Found a fox but did not kill it," or "Found two foxes but killed neither."

Though his diary tells who he dined with, and sometimes what he ate, it rarely mentions what they talked about and omits many important historical events in which he figured. He did not find time to keep one during the early years of the Revolution.

Like Thomas Jefferson, Washington always was getting interested in new gadgets and trying out new types of plants. He planted seeds which friends brought him from the far corners of the world. John Fitch, the Connecticut inventor, visited him in 1785 to "propose a draft and model of a machine for promoting navigation by means of a steamboat."

Fitch demonstrated his boat on the Delaware river in 1787 to members of the constitutional convention.

Final Touches On Memorial

RAPID CITY, S. D., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Almost released from its chrysalis of granite, the head of George Washington at the Mount Rushmore national memorial, today—on the 208th anniversary of the first president's birth—was undergoing its final buffing under direction of Sculptor Gutzon Borglum.

There was no letup in the work on the huge figure as the nation paused to pay tribute to the "Father of His Country." Human figures, tiny by comparison with the great carvings, continued to chip away with compressed air buffers at the stone still overlying the chin and upper bust of the heroic Washington, sculptured on the scale of a man 465 feet in height.

The head, 60 feet from chin to crown, was started on July 10, 1927.

As the average observer the figure was completed when, on July 4, 1930, a huge American flag was drawn aside during unveiling ceremonies. But to Borglum that was only a beginning.

"Washington," he said then, still lies behind the granite.

During the intervening ten years deftly-directed air drills and dynamite have taken off tons of rock as the sculptor labored to give expression to the granite features, to etch into the rock the character of the man who guided the infant republic's destinies through eight trying years.

Testimony On The Sharecropper

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A southwestern farmer testified today that congressional attempts to reduce large benefit payments under the crop control program might force the sharecropper and tenant system of the deep south onto irrigated cotton lands of Arizona, New Mexico, and California.

Deane F. Stahmann, Las Cruces, N. M., told a Senate Agriculture subcommittee this probably would be the result of legislation already passed by the House. The bill would reduce the present maximum payment of $10,000 to any one farmer or corporation to $5,000 and scale down all farm benefit payments of more than $1,000.

Because these limitations would not apply where landowners shared payments with tenants and sharecroppers, Stahmann said this "might force him" to use the sharecropper system. Stahmann said he operated 3,600 acres of irrigated land in New Mexico through a system of wage workers.

"The sharecropper system works fine for the rich Mississippi delta areas and other parts of the south but there are few sharecroppers in the irrigated areas," Stahmann said.

"I tried sharecroppers in 1922 but I ran into many difficulties," he said. "They would not keep the irrigation ditches free from silt or keep land free from weeds."

ing hands in a unified effort to pass the bonds and keep the commission here in Jefferson City where it belongs," Gibson pointed out.

"The battle of words reflecting the controversy has spread to almost every city in the state but has been hottest in the press of those cities seeking the commission for themselves.

"In almost every instance these towns have expressed the hope that if they can't land the department they hope that Sedalia will beat Jefferson City out of the race.

"Even the distant Kennett Tribune expresses the hope that 'Sedalia's merits will allow them to reach their objective,' and charged that Jefferson City 'has all of the state offices that it can take care of.'

Cheering Sedalia "Sedalia, hold that line!" cheers the Pilot Grove Star.

"If St. Joseph doesn't succeed in getting it Sedalia seems the next best choice," says the St. Joseph Union-Observer.

"Hats off to you, Sedalia," roots the Liberty Chronicle, "and may the commission grant your request."

The Carthage Democrat hopes that "other communities will receive sufficient consideration to disturb Jefferson City's conviction that it has a monopoly upon the state government of Missouri."

"The Maryville Tribune in a story captioned, 'We vote for Sedalia,' says that 'Sedalia performed a valuable service to the state some years ago when her activity in the campaign to remove the capital from Jefferson City forced the Jefferson City folks to depart from the habit of always receiving and never giving anything. Maybe this is the state's opportunity to repay Sedalia for services rendered a good many years ago.'

U. S. Aviator Freed In Spain

States state department had sought their freedom.

Dahl, who had been in custody since he parachuted to earth behind Nationalist Generalissimo Franco's lines on July 12, 1937, became the most widely-known American prisoner of the Spanish war as a result of his attractive blond wife's efforts to have him freed.

Spared From Execution Dahl originally was marked for execution, but he was spared from this penalty after Mrs. Dahl, a singer, sent a letter to Gen. Franco asking clemency. She enclosed a photograph of herself.

Last March 3, twenty-five days before the Spanish war ended, the United States embassy in Spain arranged for the exchange of 87 American prisoners held in Nationalist Spain for an equal number of Italian prisoners held by the Madrid forces.

After that there were 19 Americans still held by Franco for whom the state department continued negotiating. On Aug. 22 eleven were freed, while Dahl and seven others still were held. These were the eight released today.

Most of the American prisoners were captured in the spring of 1938 while fighting with the Abraham Lincoln battalion in the Republican government's international brigade. This force was assigned to help resist Franco's drive eastward to the Mediterranean in northeastern Spain.

Wife Is Skeptical

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Edith Rogers Dahl, shapely blonde wife of Harold E. Dahl, received with skepticism today the news that her flier husband had won release from Spain as a civil war prisoner.

Pausing in a rehearsal of a Spanish dance routine at a local theater, Dahl's 35 year old wife told newsmen:

"I would be very, very happy, if it were true—but I have heard it so many times before that I'll not believe it until I receive confirmation from Washington."

Jones Lays Plans For Reforms

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Governor-nominate Sam Jones planned sweeping political reforms in Louisiana as the man he beat in Tuesday's primary, Governor Earl K. Long, kept silent.

"We are a democracy again," Jones said after returning from the Democratic runoff balloting show-off he had smashed the 12 year old absolutist government established by the late Huey P. Long, Earl's brother.

Long, dodging reporters, closeted himself in the executive mansion at Baton Rouge for a caucus with his fallen adherents and, declining to concede the primary, said:

"I won't have a statement until I see the official returns."

Latest unofficial returns from 1,678 of the state's 1,703 precincts gave Jones 282,470 votes and Long 261,790, a lead of 20,680 for Jones.

'Coppers' Vacations Are Without Pay

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Pleased and surprised to find three Pittsburgh policemen frolicking on the beach at Waikiki, enjoying a vacation like himself, Councilman George Evans wrote friends back home of the incident.

The story rated a columnist's mention, and Raymond Geary, the chief of the payroll division in the comptroller's office, read it. Then he wondered what the policemen were doing on the island of hula girls and leis when he had assumed they were guarding downtown street corners.

It developed that the patrolmen had 19 days' overtime coming for 1939, so they added those days to their regular vacations and set out for Honolulu. But the catch is that they can't take overtime for 1939 in 1940.

The happy officers don't know it yet, but when they get back home they'll find they're out just 19 days' pay.

Although their skeletons were 99 per cent water, jellyfish that lived on the earth millions of years ago, left fossil record of themselves.

Censorship On U. S. Mail Is A Vexing Thing

"conflict of personalities," and added:

"You can be certain it won't happen again."

That reference apparently was to the display of bayonets, for censorship of air mail continued.

Might Pass Up Bermuda

Secretary Hull hinted at a recent press conference that if the practice did not cease, Bermuda might be passed up as a clipper stop.

Mail carried from the United States by boat is undergoing Allied examination. Mail for Mediterranean countries is being censored at Gibraltar and Marseille; for Scandinavian nations at Kirkwall, Scotland; for Netherlands ports at Weymouth, England. Haifa, Palestine, is a censorship point for the Near East.

It is understood that there are other censorship headquarters in Britain and France, and that mails destined for the United States are also censored at these cities.

When the United States liner Manhattan arrived at New York last night from Italy, her captain said that the British removed 559 sacks of mail at Gibraltar on the eastbound trip and held the ship 27 hours. On the return voyage she was held nine hours.

At the start of the war mail for South America was censored by the British at Port of Spain, Trinidad, it is understood, however, that this has been discontinued following representations by the state department.

A report from the Canadian postal administration has said that some mail for the United States would be censored.

A report received by United States coast guard headquarters from the coast guard commander at Juneau, Alaska, said that confidential personal and official mail received on January 30 appeared to have been opened and reread.

Although Britain and France are the principal countries which are censoring mails, a cable from Latvia said that 18 sacks of mail for New York, forwarded January 4 to Stockholm by the Swedish steamer Konung Oskar, were seized by Germany, but were subsequently released and reached New York with much delay.

Contend It Necessary

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The ministry of economic warfare today characterized seizure of United States mail from Pan-American Airways Clippers at Bermuda as "absolutely necessary to the British effort to strangle Germany's economic and financial life."

A ministry spokesman said the main advantage of holding the mails for inspection and possible confiscation was "preventive."

He added, "While the actual value of currency and commodities seized might be relatively unimportant, stoppage of inspection would mean that the mails immediately would be flung wide open to a vast inflow of currency and other materials to Germany. "Continuance of inspection and seizure obviously has a valuable deterrent effect."

Grain Trading At Winnipeg Light

WINNIPEG, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Trading was exceptionally light in the grain exchange today, with United States Markets closed, but wheat futures prices managed to gain moderate fractions.

Closing quotations were ½ to ¾ cent higher, May 90½c, July 91½c and October 92½c.

The market opened with a weak tone but firmed within the first half hour on fair export buying. Later support came mostly from local commission houses.

An irregular trend appeared on the Buenos Aires market, with prices quoted at ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent lower at midday. United States markets were on holiday.

Cash grain traders continued to do business in top grade northern and garnet wheat for shipment at the opening of navigation.

Oats futures were steady in the course of grain pit supported by mill and export orders. Some speculative action was noted in barley. Other grains were neglected. The price range was slightly higher.

uating circumstances for refusing to permit a person to file an application as of the day he appears to make known his desire to file his application. We are of the opinion that the commission may prescribe and regulate the manner in which this may be done. . . .

"But such regulations must be reasonable and not capricious or arbitrary and must conform to the law."

"To hold that the state social security commission is authorized to refuse to permit the filing of an application for six months would defeat the very purpose of the recent constitutional amendment . . . permitting one 65 years of age and over to apply for old age assistance on and after Jan. 1, 1940."

After the opinion was released McKittick called Haworth to ask if any employees had been putting off pension applicants.

"I told him 'It looks like your opinion is based on an assumption. We have the facts here if you want them,'" Haworth said.

L. T. Suiter, Banker At Warsaw, Dies

L. T. Suiter, 77, for fifty years a merchant and banker in Warsaw, died at his home there Wednesday night. He had been ill and bedfast since December, when he fell.

Mr. Suiter leaving the mercantile business went into banking, and was with the Farmers and Traders' Bank, but had been retired from any active business some time ago.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. George Drake, of Warsaw, one sister, two half-sisters and one half-brother.

Strong Urge In Patriotism

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Raymond J. Kelly, big, gray-haired national commander of the American Legion, today predicted "the coming ten years may well turn out to be the most critical yet experienced by the human race," and urged Americans to show vigorously affection for their country.

More than 10,000 persons heard Kelly's address at a George Washington birthday patriotic luncheon. "Our hearts beat stronger for the land we love in this year 1940 than ever before. Times of crises beget devotion and heroism—a fact which is axiomatic in our America," he said.

"When patriotism ends, our country dies. When a boy or girl of humble origin feels there is no longer any chance to rise through his own efforts during his own life time, the day of despair and hopelessness will be upon us."

"The American Legion is proud of the fact that for 21 years it has been a flag waving organization. We are proud that we have helped keep alive the torch of observing patriotic holidays."

"We are proud that we are vigorously noisy in letting our fellow-citizens know that we love America—the greatest land on earth. Too many people apologize for any show of affection for their country. Thank God the American Legion never has and never will."

Kelly urged a more accurate use of such words as "democracy" and "liberal."

Nickle In Slot Movies Planned

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22.—(AP)—One of these days you'll have a nickel-in-the-slot movies with your highball or sandwich, if plans of James Roosevelt and Fred L. Mills are carried through.

The president's movie-making son and the Chicago slot machine manufacturer have formed the Mills-Globe company to produce short films weekly to run in slot machines leased to cafes, drug stores, bars and other gathering places.

The three-minute films, most of them musicals, will be produced at Roosevelt's Globe movie company, which also will produce the orthodox type of movie.

Seventy Die In Earthquakes

ISTANBUL, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Four villages in the Kaisari region of Turkey were reported today to have been leveled by a series of continuing earth shocks with a loss of 70 lives and more than 50 persons injured.

Shocks also were felt at Ankara and Adana. The casualty toll was disclosed in an official announcement.

Eighteen quakes were felt in quick succession late yesterday in and around the town of Kaisari in Central Anatolia, Asiatic Turkey, and tremors were reported continuing at noon today.

Tens of thousands of cattle were said to have perished in the devastation of the villages and in stampedes caused by the shocks. Peasants became panic-stricken, fearing a repetition of the December disaster in which about 50,000 persons were killed by quakes, exposure and subsequent floods.

Many villagers in the Kaisari region were asleep when the quake wrecked their homes, pinning them in the debris.

Exceptional cold added to the plight of peasants who took refuge in open fields.

Fellowship Of Prayer

A Man Shall Be
Thursday, February 22. And a man shall be as a hiding place from the wind... as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land. Read Isaiah 31:1-8.
No nobler anticipation of human personality at its best was ever written. This is what men might be—and should be.
Today we celebrate the birthday of a man who fulfilled the prophet's vision. His story grows old without ceasing; what he was and did rises always more majestically, like his memorial shaft, above the pride and passion of little men who are themselves the storm and the scourge. His patience outlasted abuse; his courage supported an otherwise helpless people; his steadfastness confirmed a new-born nation; ordered freedom found in his defense and its strength. His integrity glorified his cause, his wisdom instructed statesmanship and his example remains to rebuke and to inspire. He asked nothing for himself—and gave the world America.

Prayer: We praise Thee, Lord, for famous men who have fulfilled in their lives and work the prophet's vision and served the generations. We praise Thee also for all those who have known and loved, who were for us a shelter and a hiding place from the storms and weariness of life, and beseech Thee to give us grace and wisdom to become ourselves comfort and strength for the troubled and the overborne. In His Name toward Whom the prophet's hope aspired. Amen.

Church Erents

The Men's Bible class of Ionia sponsored a farewell party Tuesday for Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Stockton, who are moving from Ionia to Bland, Mo. They have lived in Ionia for the past thirty-two years where Mr. Stockton has been station agent for the Rock Island railroad, and he is being transferred to the same position at Bland.

The affair was in charge of the men, who served the supper, setting tables and waiting on the guests. After the repast Mr. Matthew, Sunday school superintendent, paid tribute to the Stockton family for the many years they have been active in Sunday school work. L. W. Taylor, representing the class of which Mr. Stockton was teacher, expressed appreciation for his services and presented him with a Bible. Mrs. C. C. Meyers, of the Live Wire class of which Mrs. Stockton is a charter member, expressed appreciation for her work and presented her with a vase of flowers. Alice Anne Mahnken, speaking for the young people, thanked them for their work among the young people and Rev. Wilson expressed appreciation for their church loyalty.

Mr. Stockton responded and conducted a ten minute Bible quiz.

A quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alcorn, Mrs. A. W. Hampy and A. A. Mahnken gave two numbers.

The Spiritual Cultural group of the Fifth Street Methodist church will meet at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Louis Hoffman, 901 South Kentucky avenue. Mrs. Hoffman will be the leader of the program.

The W. M. S. of East Sedalia Baptist church will meet Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the church, to study the Home Mission book, "Give Ye Them To Eat," in preparation for the March week of prayer and offering for Home Missions. A good attendance is desired.

Joint Social Session Held By Lodges

The I. O. O. F. Lodge 153 and Sedalia Rebekah Lodge No. 125 and Loyal Rebekah Lodge No. 260, held a joint social session at the Woodman-Maccabee hall Tuesday evening.

There was no business session of either lodge but all enjoyed a most pleasant evening. A most enjoyable program was given by the younger pupils of Mrs. Spookie Fisher Edwards Musical Academy. All were so delightful and entertaining there could be no preference, either in dancing in beautiful costumes or singing.

A community sing was held, being led by Mrs. Ford of the First Christian church. A group of patriotic songs were given as well as others.

The program opened by Rebekah Chaplain Mrs. Nina Day and was closed by the Odd Fellows closing prayer in unison.

Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, pie and coffee were served to eighty-five members and friends. Another such meeting will be held on March 19.

Founder's Day Talk To PTA

The Mosby school Parent-Teacher Association met in its February meeting, the session opened with a prayer by E. O. Van Dyke. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. A. K. Smith. Miss Catherine Jones was secretary and Eldon Mosby treasurer. Roll call was answered by memory gems and scripture verses.

Mrs. P. R. Burford gave a talk on founders' day, and other numbers on the program were: Songs by group; history of the founders, Mrs. C. H. Leiter; song by group; recitation, Raggedy Man, Billy Franklin; songs by the school; song, Rancho Grande, by Dorothy Heather and Mary Frances Van Dyke; recitation, A Feller's Hat, Leroy Van Dyke; play, The Hired Man, Carl Franklin, Paul Brown, Leroy and Elbert Van Dyke and Dorothy Heather; song, South of the Border, June Cramer, Elbert and Keroy Van Dyke, accompanied on the guitar by Jean Cramer.

The program closed with a song by all. The next meeting will be held Thursday, March 21.

S.S.S. Tonic must be good

So many people take it
—to increase appetite
—to boost energy

COUNTLESS thousands of men and women can testify to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought them.

The facts are simple because of all conditions affecting the human body a low blood count is most deceptive. If you feel rundown . . . lack a keen appetite . . . have lost weight . . . don't give up until you restore these precious red blood cells back to normal.

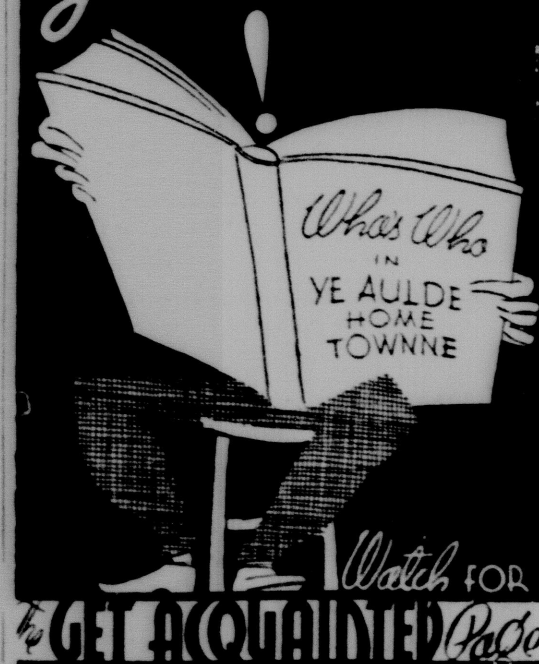

S.S.S. Tonic may be just what you need to get you on the right road to health and happiness again.

In S.S.S. Tonic you go after the trouble in two ways . . . first you increase the appetite and better your stomach digestion—thus making better use of the food you eat—secondly, thin, weak, watery blood is made rich and red again thus giving you a boost in energy.

Try S.S.S. which any drug store can supply and no ethical dealer will suggest a substitute. The big 20 oz. size is a two week's treatment and represents a saving in the purchase price. S.S.S. Co.

New Rules For Seed Growers

Regulations Just Issued By State Corn Association Effective In 1940

The production of registered seed by Pettis county seed growers in 1940 will be subject to a new ruling calling for an inspection of the seed after it has been prepared and sacked, according to the regulations just issued by the Missouri Corn Growers' Association, of which Hubert Finley, Route 5, Sedalia, is president.

The following are the general rules and regulations governing the growing, production, and marketing of registered seed as inspected by the association, effective for all crops grown or harvested beginning in 1940.

Sold In New Bags
1. All seed grown and sold by members as Registered Seed, must be sold in new plain bags supplied by the association with official association tags fully filled out and signed by the grower. Each tag must be sealed across the opening of the bag.

2. Growers are required to market all seed as registered seed when sold to: (a) Local or wholesale dealers who purchase seed for resale. (b) All truckers who purchase the seed for resale. (c) All shipments made by mail, express, truck line, or freight, regardless of the purchaser.

3. Growers may sell seed not registered to local or other farmers who come to the farm and get it in person for their own use.

4. Growers must maintain both possession and ownership of all crops inspected for all or that part to be sold as registered seed under paragraph 2, until such seed is tested, bagged, and tagged.

Field Inspection of Crops

5. Seed inspections must be made on all crops after the grower has prepared the seed and has it sacked in new, plain bags, supplied by the association. Inspections of bagged cleaned seed will be made only as requested by the grower.

6. Requests for inspection must be made: (a) On regulation farms supplied by the Secretary. (b) Membership and inspection fees must be attached to application. (c) The inspection blanks must be mailed in to the Secretary's office PRIOR TO THE DATES AS FOLLOWS:

For small grains (wheat, rye, barley, oats) before May 1.

For sorghums and Sudan grass, July 1.

For soybeans and cowpeas, Aug. 1.

For corn (open pollinated), Aug. 15.

Fees Will Be Refunded

8. Inspection fees will be refunded to growers who request inspection, and later cancel the request before the inspection is made.

9. No crop or variety shall be inspected which has not previously been tested or approved by the Missouri Experiment Station.

10. Members who apply for inspection must have not less than the following acreage of the variety to be inspected:

Small grain, 10 acres.

Corn (open pollinated), 10 acres.

Sorghums or Sudan, 5 acres.

Soybeans or Cowpeas, 10 acres.

11. All growers must be paid up as to membership for the year:

(a) during which the crop is produced, and (b) during which the crop is sold.

Reupholstering Meetings Start

Believing that reupholstering is one of the most practical of all home crafts and that it will contribute greatly to solving the problems of home conveniences and of farm and home income, the Home Economics Extension clubs of Pettis county are sending their home furnishing leaders to training meetings next week.

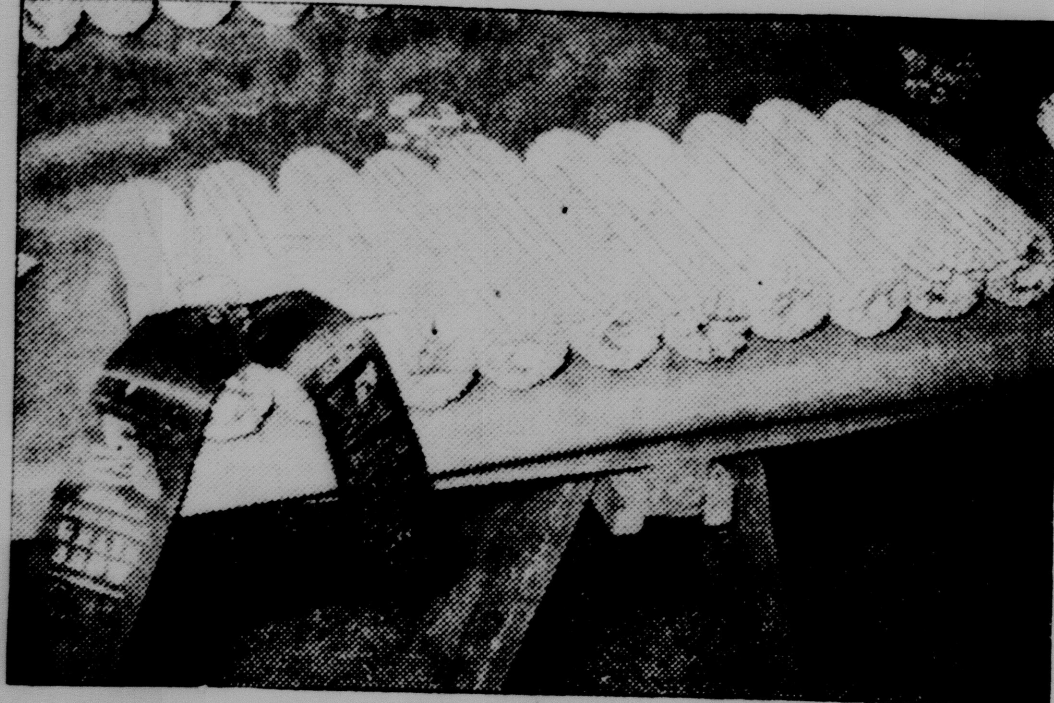

The first training school will be in Sedalia on Wednesday, February 23, at the county extension office. Following that will be one at Hughesville at the school building on February 29 and at the LaMonte school on March 1.

This training meeting was preceded by the refinishing school last month when leaders were trained in recommended procedures for refinishing various woods, which is an essential step preceding the upholstery.

Although such work requires much time and effort the satisfaction received justifies that effort for few things in the home are more noticeable and less comfortable than sagging chair seats and frayed upholstery.

There are several efficient reupholstering shops which are the source of satisfaction, but many rural families would rather do the work thus releasing that amount of cash for other purposes.

Prize Winning Yellow Dent

Above is shown the corn that took first place in the Reid's Yellow Dent class with the ten best ears and also was awarded first as the champion ten best ears of the Pettis County Grain Show, held recently at the Pettis County Court House. The corn was grown by Rollie Thomas, Sedalia Route 5.

Reduce Living Cost With Lard

Concern Evidenced Because More Of Fat Isn't Used

The cost of living may be lowered, and the demand for agricultural products increased by the maximum use of lard. That more lard is not used is of real and vital concern to the men who met Friday at the Clover and Prosperity meeting in Sedalia.

It was called to attention by Thomas J. Raines, member of the Missouri Pork and Lard committee, that lard is about one-half the price of vegetable fats. In addition to its low cost per pound, it also requires only about three-fourths as much lard substitutes for shortening purposes.

In 1938 Pettis county farmers produced approximately 3,000,000 pounds of lard. With normal consumption, less than 500,000 pounds is consumed in the county annually. Therefore, the price of lard and other pork products are very important factors in determining farm income.

Range of Temperatures

Lard is also very easily used since it can be manipulated over such a great range of temperatures. For example, lard can be worked satisfactorily as it comes from the refrigerator, and again equally as well at room temperatures. Lard is an excellent fat to use for frying purposes, since it can be heated to sufficiently high temperatures without burning.

Frying depends about as much on the method of use as on the fat used. Fried foods can be well or poorly prepared. To fry foods correctly means to give them a crusty, golden brown surface, and a thoroughly cooked interior without extra grease soaking in.

Frying seals up the surface of the food so the natural juices are kept in. For best results the surface should be dry. For this reason, some food is dipped in egg and bread crumbs.

If not overheated, lard has qualities which permit its being used over and over again for deep fat frying without undesirable changes in flavor and odor. Also, its low cost makes it possible to use a fresh supply frequently.

Iron Frying Pan

The most satisfactory kind of pan for frying is made of iron or cast aluminum.

Shortening is the fat which makes pie crust tender. A solid fat such as lard is more satisfactory than oil for pastry. It makes a flaky and tender crust.

A correct view of lard qualities should increase its use. If the use of lard is increased, the cost of foods using fat will be lowered to the consumer, and the livestock producer and farmer will be materially aided by a better utilization of this important agricultural commodity.

Spring Seeding Of Lawns Helps

Although not always the most successful method, the seeding of lawns in early spring is a very common practice and one that can be made to succeed in most instances by attention to a few essentials, says Carl G. Vinson of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

When spring seeding is used it is very necessary to rake the seed into the soil at a date sufficiently early so it will germinate and the plants will get a start with the first growing conditions of early spring. Raking the seeds into the soil will invariably get a better stand than mere broadcasting.

Bluegrass does better where the soil is not too acid; consequently a good application of limestone nitrogenous fertilizers such as ammonium sulfate may be used with greater safety, since the limestone counteracts the acid residue from the ammonium sulfate.

When used on the lawn, am-

More Freezer Lockers Used

Reports Show They Are In Operation In 27 States

Freezing is gradually becoming an accepted method of food preservation for farm homes in communities where freezer locker plants are maintained says Miss Flora Carl of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

While plants of this type were almost unknown until only a few days ago, they are now reported in operation in 27 states. They were originally designed for farm families, but in many towns 50 per cent of the patrons are village or city residents who buy from farmers on the wholesale market or through the locker management.

Glass Jars Convenient

Glass jars have proved convenient for most housewives for storage of fruits and vegetables in the lockers, as they have them on hand. Some foods such as apricots or peaches should be sealed airtight, but many foods require only a lid on the container. Containers like ice cream cartons should not be used.

Considerable experimental work has been done on the keeping qualities of meats after being removed from the lockers. The maximum length of time which frozen meat could be kept, after its removal to the home refrigerator, was 2 to 3 days in an ice refrigerator, and 3 to 4 days in an electric refrigerator, depending on the thickness of the pieces of meat.

Meats can be satisfactorily cooked either while still frozen or soon after they are thawed. For meats that are not thawed, about 15 minutes per pound must be allowed for cooking. A meat thermometer is the only exact means of knowing when the roast is done. Shaping ground beef and sausage before they are packed for freezing makes it possible to cook them without thawing and with no further handling.

monium sulfate should be used only in finely pulverized form and absolutely dry. It should never be applied when the grass is damp, as it will kill the grass blades if there is enough moisture present to make the fertilizer adhere to it.

Since a porous mulch that is not too dense is usually helpful to the growth of grass, the early clippings, from a newly seeded lawn may safely be left upon the ground. Clipping the grass too closely is also a serious mistake. The lawn mower should be set to cut as high as possible. The lawn that is clipped high will survive adverse conditions such as hot, dry weather much better than one clipped too closely.

Soil Improvement Association To Meet At CCC Camp Friday

Members of the Pettis County Soil Improvement Association and Pettis County farmers, especially those farmers who have signed applications to have their farms as demonstration farms in the CCC Camp program are invited to attend a meeting on Friday afternoon, February 23, at 1:30 o'clock, at the CCC camp.

The meeting will be held in the Educational Building of the camp and this building is in the extreme southwest corner facing Engineer avenue.

The purpose of this meeting is to give farmers information on the camp set-up, the camp program, the work that has been accomplished, and the plans for 1940. It is an opportunity for everyone interested to get a better understanding of the entire soil conservation program that is being carried out under the direction of the camp personnel.

George R. Wilkerson, president of the Pettis County Soil Improvement Association, will act as

Timely Hint On Successful Potato Raising

R. A. Schroeder Says That Hot Weather Cuts Yield

A timely hint on successful potato growing is offered by R. A. Schroeder, of the Missouri College of Agriculture, who points out that so often hot weather at the end of the growing season is the principal factor curtailing yields of this crop in Missouri. Potatoes, being a cool weather crop—one of the most sensitive to climatic conditions—must be planted early if they are to have the maximum length of growing season before the advent of hot weather.

The grower must take advantage of every day of the cool spring season. Under average conditions, the best planting dates are as follows: For central Missouri, March 15 to April 1; for northern Missouri, 10 days to two weeks later; and for the southern part of the state, the same number of days earlier.

Purchase Good Seed

The first step in preparation for planting, is the purchase of northern-grown certified seed, which is officially inspected several times during the growing season, and at least once in the bin for truthness to variety and for freedom from disease and insect infestation.

Seed treatment is another important step toward a good potato crop, good insurance at low cost, and a profitable practice, even when using certified seed. Treatment is not a cure-all, by any means, but it does afford protection against diseases born on the surface of the potato.

Dip Potatoes In Solution

The most common treatment is by dipping in a solution consisting of four ounces of corrosive sublimate in 30 gallons of water. The potatoes are immersed in this for 1½ hours and then allowed to dry before cutting.

Potatoes are grown most successfully on fall-plowed ground, also on land where there is little danger from erosion. Spring preparation requires only disking and harrowing. Rows should be spaced at least 3 feet apart with seed pieces 12 to 15 inches apart in the row. They should be covered 3 to 4 inches deep.

Continue Bangs Disease Program

Morgan county farmers continue to show their interest in the program for elimination of Bangs disease in cattle. Dr. C. E. Richardson, veterinary inspector, working in the counties of Morgan, Benton, Moniteau, and Miller reports that 307 head from 39 farms were tested in Morgan county last week.

Many more herds are on the waiting list to be reached on the inspector's next visit to the county. Dr. Richardson, working in four counties, spends one week in each county and thereby makes the round every four weeks. He plans to be back in Morgan county the week of March 11.

The farmers of Morgan county have always taken an active interest in the Bangs disease elimination program and the amount of infection in the county has been greatly reduced. 17,000 tests have been made and 648 reactors have been sold for slaughter.

Farmers who have participated in the program and now have clean herds say that it has paid them many times and that they are now getting much higher percentage calf crops along with a higher percentage of healthy strong calves and that they also have less trouble with the udders in their cows.

Morgan County Man Discusses Best Methods at Lambing Time

With 75 fine lambs saved up to date Marvin Welpman, who lives five miles east of Versailles, in Morgan county, has demonstrated that the handicap of sub-zero temperature during lambing time may be overcome.

The flock of 98 ewes owned by Welpman starting dropping lambs December 28. Most of them dropped during the coldest weather—about the middle of January. Checking up Welpman says that 72 or 73 ewes have dropped lambs and only seven have failed to save a lamb. However, enough twins have been saved to make the average slightly over the 100 per cent mark.

If more twins had been dropped the average might have been higher. These ewes are of the fine-wool breed which do not average a very high percentage of twins.

In discussing the methods used in saving this good crop of lambs Welpman states that it required closer attention but that he was helped by the fact that the lambs were strong because a good ration was fed the ewes, he said.

A brooder house which is used in the spring and summer by baby chicks was placed near the sheep barn. It was divided up into several small pens and a stove, properly shielded for fire protection, was placed inside. As soon as a young lamb was found the ewe and lamb were placed in one of the pens of the brooder house until the lamb was thoroughly dry and strong enough to follow the ewe.

Welpman says he made a practice of visiting the barn each night during the cold weather before bed time, again about midnight, and then again early in the morning.

Each ewe and lamb, before being put back with the flock, was given a number or identifying mark, so that if the lamb afterwards showed signs of not finding its mother, the ewe could be found and the lamb placed with her.

The ewes, before lambing time, were fed principally on atlas sorgo silage and allowed all they wanted to eat. About ¼ pound of cotton seed meal per head per day was also fed and they had access to a simple mineral mixture of equal parts bonemeal, fine ground limestone and salt.

The ewes with young lambs were kept and fed separately from those that had not had lambs and were given increased feed and allowed about a pound per day per head of a grain mixture consisting of about 10 parts of corn, 1½ parts cottonseed meal, 2½ parts of bran.

They were also given a good legume roughage with about two pounds of green leafy soybean hay and one pound of lespedeza hay. They were limited to 2½ pounds of silage.

A creep has been provided for the lambs and most of them are eating well. They are fed a mixture of equal parts ground corn, ground oats and wheat bran. Several of these lambs will weigh over 30 pounds.

With the good start they have, Welpman plans to crowd them for an early market because they have been extra trouble and will use more feed than would be required if the lambs had been dropped later, but with prospects for a good early lamb market this year, he feels that it will be time and money well spent.

Don't Delay With Chicks

If Profitable Goal Is To Be Reached In Fall

Hatching of chicks must not be delayed until the late spring months if the goal of poultry raisers is to secure pullets for profitable egg production during the period of highest egg prices next fall, says D. D. Moyer of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

To have them laying 50 per cent or more during October and November necessitates hatching the heavy breeds in February and March and the light breeds not later than April 15.

Ordinarily it takes 4½ to 5½ months for light breeds to mature and start laying, and 5½ to 6½ months for heavy breeds. When hatching is delayed beyond the suggested dates, the flock usually fails to produce profitably during the fall period, and this materially affects the annual net income from the flock.

There are several reasons why early hatched chicks are best. In the first place, they are hatched from eggs that were laid by good winter layers. Second, they have several weeks of cool, ideal weather for making rapid growth.

Third, they are several weeks old before parasite eggs and disease germs become active in the soil, and are more apt to escape severe parasite infections and disease infections. By securing them during the early spring months, the broilers reach market age before prices have made serious decline.

Another reason is the fact that most poultry raisers have more time to devote during the late winter and early spring months to getting the chicks to a good start.

Play Is Sign Of Friendships

When the colts begin to run and play it is a sign of spring but when the people begin to play it is a sign of peace and friendship. In order to further promote that attitude and cooperation among all people several communities are sending delegates to the recreation training school in Warrensburg, February 26-29.

The Quisenberry Community Association is sending Virginia Lee Thompson and Orin Chappell as delegates to return recreational training to their locality. The Smithton community will be represented by Mrs. W. J. Holtzen, Mrs. William J. Lamm and Rev. Edwin J. Weiss.

The goals of their social committee are to have recreation each month at their community meeting and to have recreation within their community for their young people.

Others who are planning to attend the sessions are Rev. C. B. Orabood, LaMonte; Earl Neef, Houstonia; Mrs. Alice Brown, Sunnyside; Mrs. L. H. Hodges, Oak Grove; and Rev. O. J. Rumpf, Sedalia.

This school will be directed by Miss Madeline Stephens of the National Recreation Association in cooperation with the State Extension Service.

Farm Census Will Be Taken This Year

The 1940 Farm Federal Census will be taken this year. Many farmers have called at the extension office for a sample copy of the schedule so that they might study

Pockets, Pockets Are Fashion Notes

Big pockets, little pockets—definitely spring fashion notes. They fit snugly over slim controlled hips. Some are extreme, perky or clever—and useful. There may be one, two or a row of pockets to suit the individual. Some have button trim, others are shirred while some are left plain.

Spring fashions are always notes of interest to women and in the past—to men too—especially hats. It seems almost anything goes. But not all hats "go" with all types of women!

The main fashion trends this spring are sailors in a new version—high rounded crowns with one inch brims, and very wide brims up to six inches with very low crowns. Pill boxes, round, high and posed forward. Side curved brims, high and irregular, tricornes, off the face, turbans. Back treatment is important in all kinds, a few snoods, while fruit and berries replace flowers for trimming. Some strap under the chin.

Spring colors this year hit their highlight with gray, bright navy, all shades of blue with flower tones, pirate red, scarlet, mustard, ginger, reseda green and pink.

Dress lengths still stay short, sixteen to sixteen and one-half inches from the floor. A combination of good fit and these notes makes that "well dressed woman."

Do You Have A Funny Cackle?

It is strange that such a beautiful bird as the peacock should have such a funny cackle. And yet some of our voices do not match our personalities any better than that of the peacock with his lovely plumage.

You were born with the possibility of a beautiful voice. Have you made the best of that? Do people who hear your voice wish further acquaintance? You might check up. Listen to others speak then listen to yourself.

Speech is one of our best means of expressing ourselves to others. Do you speak clearly and distinctly with pleasing intonation. Your voice is like a barometer, it expresses your joy and sorrow, interest, enthusiasm and all of your attitudes. It is not the same in the parlor that it is out in the pasture, or at a party, or a football game or at church. But you can do a lot to improve it with just a little conscious effort.

Most women talk to high. Some talk too fast and some too slowly. Pronounce consonants clearly. For example, are your "p's" as they should be or do they sound like "ph's"? And do you pronounce the final letters of words like "ask"? Vowel sounds change according to their association with other letters. Just with the vowel "e" notice the variation in pronunciation of beet, fetch, apple, fern, and so on.

it before taking of the census is started.

A supply of sample schedules have been received at the extension office and anyone desiring a copy of the schedule may secure it.

Parity Rates Set For Corn And Wheat

Payments On Two Commodities Will Be Made In 1940

C. W. Sheppard, chairman of the Missouri Agricultural Conservation committee, has announced that the parity rates for corn in the 1940 Agricultural Conservation program will be 5c per bushel and wheat 10c per bushel. Parity payments on these two commodities will be made again in 1940 to farmers cooperating with the Agricultural Conservation Program, according to W. E. Ragar, of the county committee.

The payment will be made on the normal yield of each producer's acreage allotment. However one of the provisions of the 1940 program is that where there is both a wheat and corn allotment on the farm, the operator must stay within the total of both special allotments in order to be eligible for parity payments.

For Five Basic Crops

The 1940 Appropriation Act provided for parity payments to be made on the five basic crops in 1940 if the 1939 average farm prices were less than 75 per cent of parity. The average price of each kind of tobacco was above 75 per cent of parity therefore no price adjustment payment will be made on this crop. The four crops on which parity payments will be made include corn, wheat, rice and cotton. However the rice and cotton payments are not applicable to Pettis county.

Officials indicated that estimated increases in participation in the 1940 program compared to 1939 estimates are responsible for the somewhat lower rates in parity payments for 1940.

Plant Within Acreage

Besides the parity payments, farmers who cooperate in the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program and plant within their acreage allotments will receive agricultural conservation payments at rates previously announced.

Following are the rates for agricultural conservation payments and parity payments which will be made to cooperators on the normal yield of their acreage allotments in 1940, (1939 payments shown for comparison).

Agricultural Conservation Parity 1939	1940	1939	1940
Corn, Cents per bu.	9	10	6
Wheat, Cents per bu.	17	9	11

Due to changes in the acreage allotments and normal yields, the 1940 rates will be applied to an approximately 12 per cent larger wheat production and 3 per cent smaller corn production.

Women Learning Block Printing

Pettis county women are learning to block print and spatter decorative designs for Christmas cards, pictures, towels, draperies, blouses and other interesting articles.

Several of the women have worked out their monograms on a linoleum block. They plan to print stationery, cards and various other things.

One of them has designed a scroll on linoleum which she will use around a table cloth for a border.

Spatter work seems to be especially well liked. It can be quite colorful so some of the women are planning to use it on burlap and other rough textures as well as finer materials. The first leaders' meetings was held at Mrs. Edw. Heffernan's last Wednesday. Leaders met at Mrs. E. F. Rissler's on Tuesday and will meet again at Mrs. W. J. Holtzen's at Smithton today. Each demonstration requires two all-day meetings.

Second Rally In An Advance Move Is Held

Bishop Broomfield Gives Message At Methodist Church

(By Church Reporter)

The second rally in the Sedalia Methodist Advance movement was held in the Fifth Street Methodist church Wednesday evening with Bishop John C. Broomfield bringing a timely message on "The Church-Bride of Christ." The First Methodist church furnished the special music. The Fifth street church auditorium was crowded with delegations from many Pettis county Methodist churches.

Bishop Broomfield said, "In his studies and observation he found much is being said about church architecture, church music, church organizations and management but very little is being said dealing directly with the church of the living God as the body of Christ on earth. God cannot be pleased with this indifference toward His Church. This thing is characteristic of the average Protestant in his attitude toward the church. We take the church for granted." The speaker said, "He had issued a challenge to many audiences and has his first person to find who said he has spent as much as five minutes in determining what the church meant to him." As a result we have no standards. We find a great multitude of our church members like nine of the ten lepers who were healed. They did not return to thank our Lord for healing them of the dreadful affliction. The value placed on the church should be greater than on anything else in life. If we are to be Christians, we must be God like, and therefore, must place value where God places it and put the church ahead of everything else in the world. The material out of which God

Today's Pattern

Everybody Likes This Apron Pattern 8557

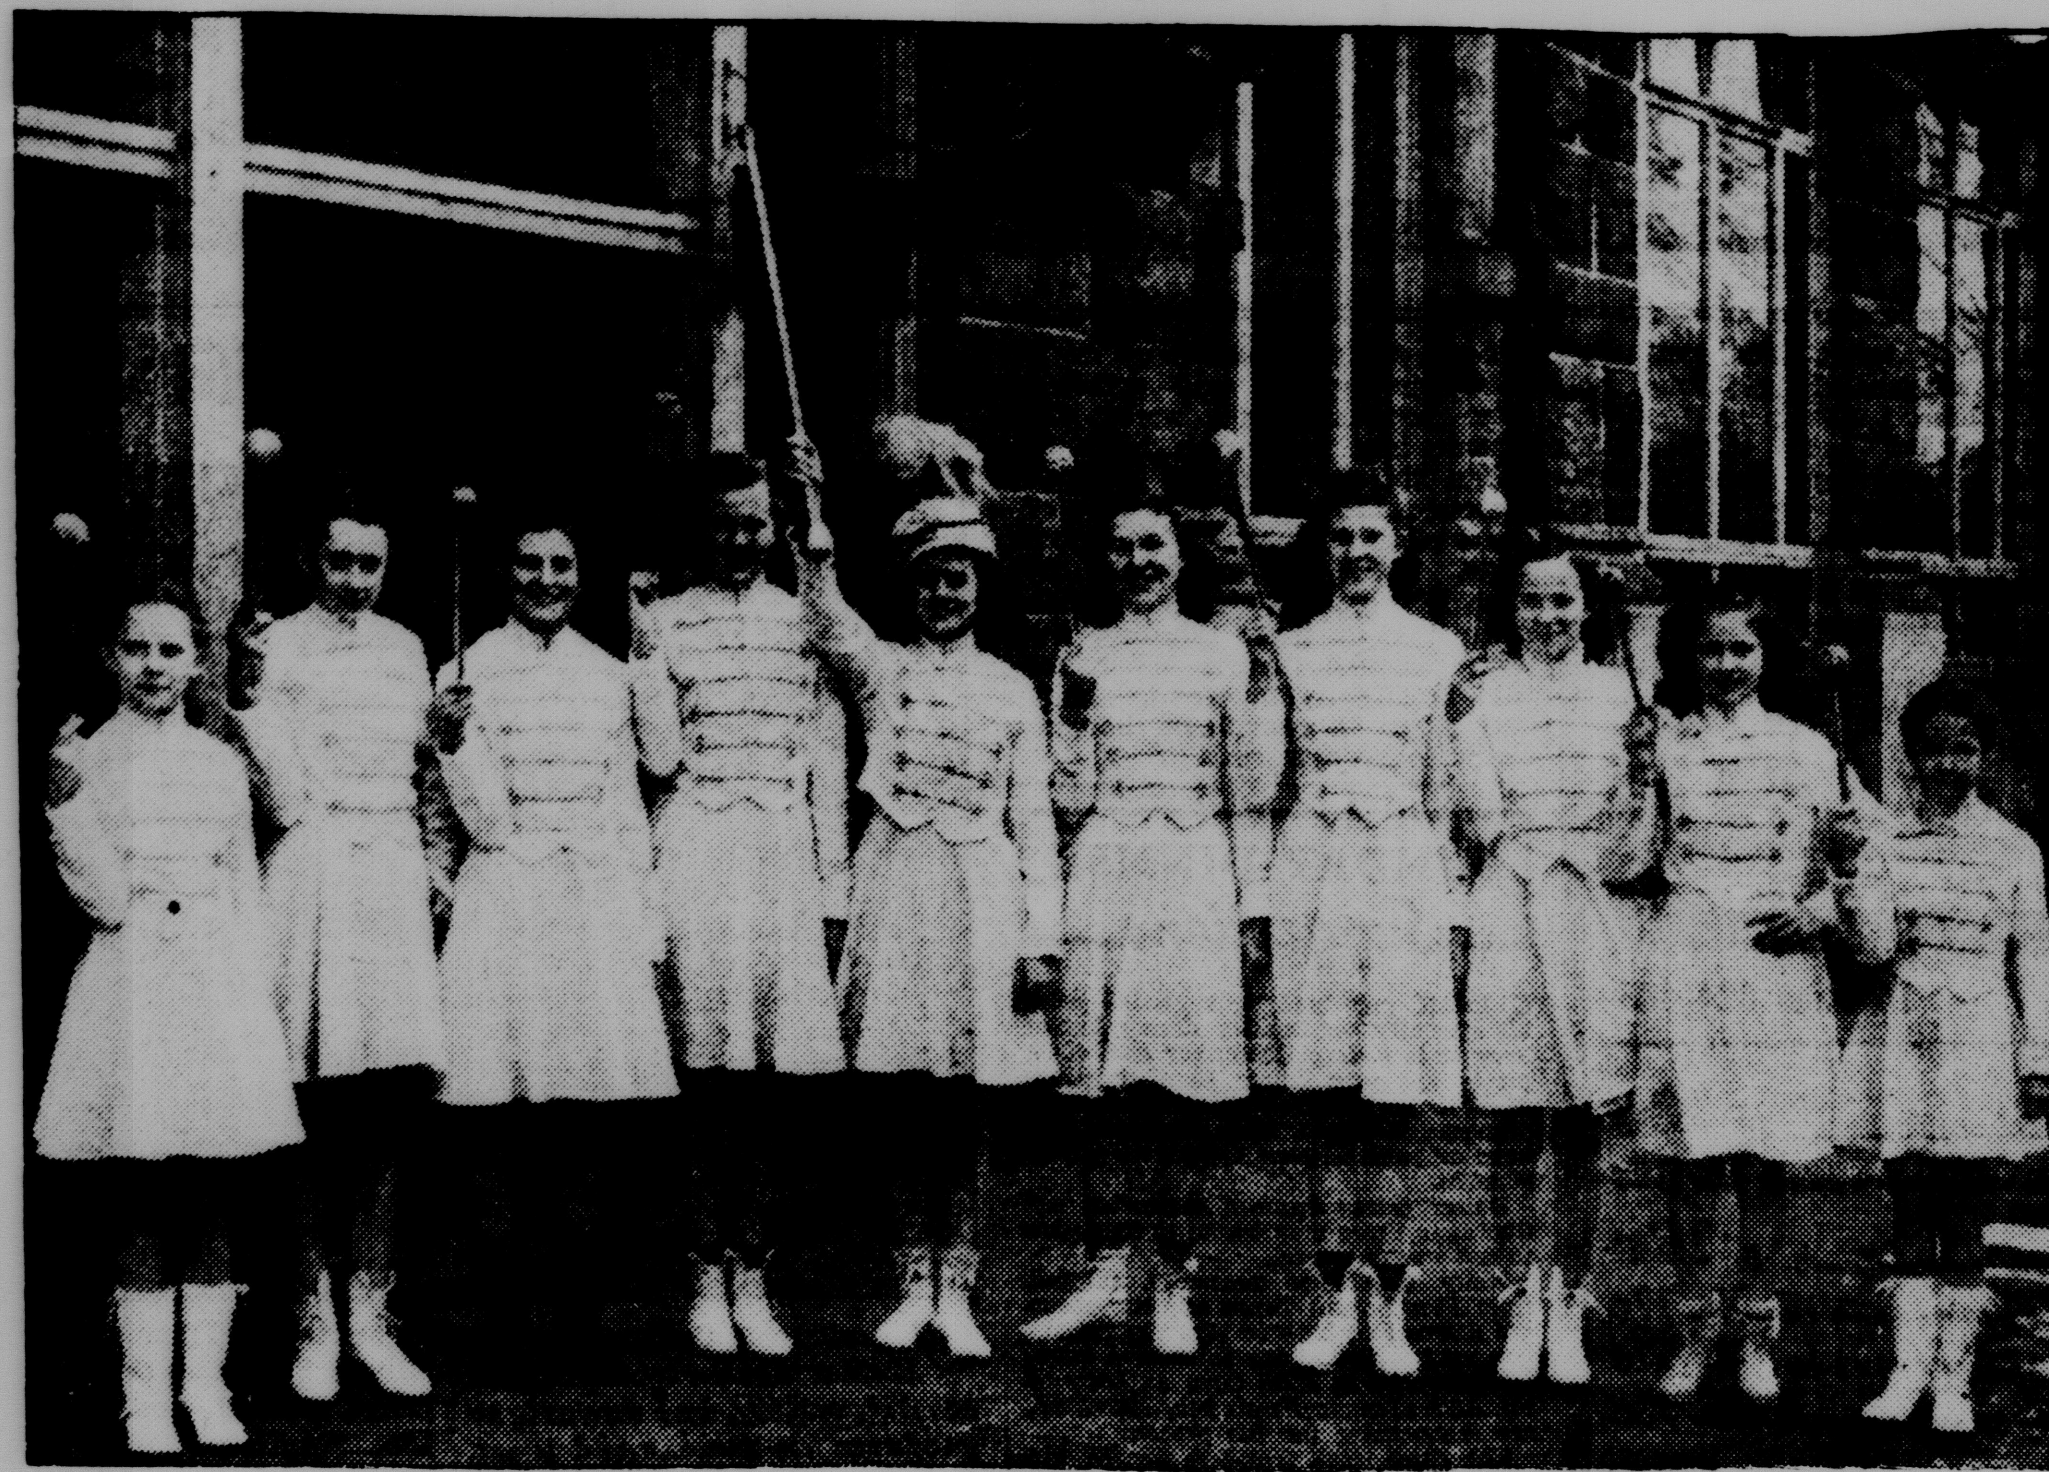

Whenever we picture this apron (8557) the orders simply pour in—flocks of them! It exactly satisfies a busy woman's demand for an apron that will completely cover her dress, that goes on easily without any complicated tying or pulling, and stays comfortably put, because those wide buttoned straps over the shoulders hold it firmly in place. Consisting of just three pieces to put together (as you see from the diagram) it's so easy to make that you can finish it—braiding, trimming and all—in just a few hours.

If you haven't already made and enjoyed this practically perfect pinafore, get your pattern order into the mail today, and find out for yourself just how thoroughly satisfactory it is. Flowered percale or calico, plaid gingham or plain-colored chambray, are sturdy and most useful. Even this simple pattern includes a step-by-step sew chart.

Pattern No. 8557 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3 yards of 35-inch material; 6 yards of trimming.

For a pattern of this attractive model send 15c in coin, your name, address, style, number, and size to The Democrat-Capitol, Today's Pattern Service, 106 - 7th Ave., New York, N. Y.

Baton Twirlers Of The Smithton Junior High School

expected to build the church was chosen in Christ before the foundation of the world, to be holy and blameless in him. What was chosen, was redeemed by Christ on Calvary. What was chosen, redeemed and seen, God made His Son to be the head of. What God is doing for the church? God is helping his Son keep his promise given to the twelve: "I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." The proof of this promise is that the number has grown from twelve to six hundred million. What does God propose to do for his church? That we cannot tell. Someday the church will be presented on her wedding morn without spot. The only thing that will survive the wreck of time is the church of the living God, for it is the only thing that has a future. The best investment possible is your investment in the church of the living God. We must give the church the place God wants it to have.

In concluding his sermon Bishop Broomfield said, "A new day has come in Methodism. We, as Methodists, must keep sweet and smiling and thank God for the privilege of helping the cause of the church."

Choir To Sing

Tonight's rally will be held in the First Methodist church with the Christian church choir furnishing the special music. In keeping with national brotherhood week several members of the Sedalia ministerial alliance will participate in the service.

Members of other churches have been invited to attend the meeting tonight and it is hoped that the auditorium will be well filled for this last service. This morning Bishop Broomfield spoke in the Higginsville Methodist church in a rally of the Methodist churches in LaFayette county.

Bishop Broomfield will preach tonight on the subject, "The Wondrous Christ." His life is full of rich experiences coming from some of the largest pastorates in the former Methodist Protestant church. Sedalia church minded people should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this last sermon tonight at 7:30 in the First Methodist church.

Smithton

(Mrs. R. R. Lujin) Smithton will have two plays entered in the county play writing contest. Mrs. Wm. Green writing "Mistaken Identity" and Robin Stockman wrote "Fishermen's Luck." Both are in the drama division. Last year Mrs. Raymond Kurtz had an entry.

Gerald Melendy has accepted work in a garage in Michigan. With his mother he has been visiting in Chesaning, Mich.

Edward G. Ringen and Robert Goetz, accompanied and played with the Central Missouri State Teachers' college band, on a tour which included Pittsburgh, Kas. and Springfield, Mo.

C. E. Rissler and family had as their guests last week his brothers, Charles G. Rissler, a contractor in Chicago and Harold D. Rissler, a radio engineer at Des Moines, Iowa. Sunday there was a Rissler family reunion at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas and Mrs. Emmett Tevebaugh at Hughesville.

Melton Teeter, who has been in Michigan the past three years, is here visiting relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Golder Luetjen entertained a party of boys at dinner Sunday in honor of their son, Hulen's birthday. Guests were: Gene Bremer, whose birthday occurs the same day, Lilburn Lujin, Wallace Cole, George Demand, Homer Jaeger and Carl Homan Bartley.

Miss Billie Hill, freshman at the Missouri Valley College, Marshall, was one of a group of students who assisted in the play "Sunny Skies" recently given in Marshall.

Mrs. Harry Pace entertained with a valentine party Wednesday afternoon for her daughter, Barbara. Those attending were: Troy Hotsenpiller, Mrs. A. J. Hotsenpiller and daughter, Mary. Mrs. Rebecca Jackson and daughter, Alice Mildred, Mrs. August Oehrke, Mrs. Lawrence Wagenknecht and son, Robert, Mrs. Earl Momborg and daughter, Mrs. Shirley Bolte and Miss Eva Pace.

Mr. and Mrs. August Oehrke entertained the following guests at a pinocle party Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Schaeffer, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Daniels, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Sharper.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. George Green met Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Wagenknecht for a reunion. A contributed dinner was served at the noon hour. Those present were: Mrs. George Green, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Muschany, Mr. and Mrs. Euel Muschany and son Mac, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Green and daughter, Patty Sue, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Schlusinger and daughter, Phyllis, Melton and Mary Teeter. Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Green and family were unable to attend because of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Thompson of Flagstaff, Ariz., arrived Tuesday to visit several weeks with Mrs. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Page.

Misses Florence and Alma White have received from Mrs. Nettie Haire Jones stating her son, Webster, who was lost in snow covered mountains, was recovering as well as could be expected, but still has a special nurse attending him. They have hopes of saving his feet which were severely frozen.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lindsey, of Kansas City, were guests of his sister, Mrs. Charles Ellison, Mr. Ellison and daughter, Hattie, for several days this week. They were guests at a chicken dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Edwards in Sedalia.

Legion Housing Committee Meets

Over 200 applications for rooms have been received by the housing committee of Post No. 16, the American Legion, for the state convention to be held here August 31 and September 1, 2 and 3. It was announced at a committee meeting Wednesday night in the Porter-Montgomery building, 112 West Fourth street.

The Legionnaires expect several thousand visitors here during the convention and met last night with local hotel managers to discuss housing plans.

Peter T. O'Brien is chairman of the housing committee and Carl G. Schrader is general convention chairman.

Writes C. Of C. As To A Chiropractic Sanitarium

Dr. W. B. Jones, D. C., of Honnibal, writes the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, asking for information concerning the city and its possibilities as a location for a chiropractic sanitarium where allopathic services and chiropractic services can be combined.

Prepares For Ban On Aviation Oil

BUCHAREST, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Rumania ordered her already large military preparations speeded up today following authoritative reports that Germany was challenging the government's ban on export of aviation gasoline to the reich.

Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic expert, is expected here Monday for showdown conversations to insist on full delivery of Germany's 1940 quota of oil and oil products. Meanwhile, the government ordered many of 200,000 reservists originally called for March 1 to start reporting immediately to concentration centers, it was learned.

Effective March 1, Rumania will have 1,600,000 men under arms—virtually general mobilization without being so labeled.

Railways now are jammed with reservists moving toward frontiers and with long trainloads of tanks, armored cars and artillery.

The arrival of Dr. Clodius will coincide with the start of Rumanian trade conversations here with Italy, understood also to be seeking a share of this country's oil exports.

Germany, it is said, will challenge a Rumanian ban on shipments of high test aviation gasoline to the reich—a measure which Rumania was reported to have taken to placate Great Britain and France.

The German attitude toward Rumania and all southeastern Europe will depend on the outcome of Clodius' talks, these informed quarters predicted.

Roy Edwards Operated On For Appendicitis Improves

Roy Edwards, manager of the sports department of the Rosenthal Clothing company, who was operated upon ten days ago for appendicitis, is getting along nicely.

Mr. Edwards has been removed from the Bothwell hospital to his home, 617 West Fifth street, where he now is glad to receive visitors. He expects to return to work in about a week.

Shops and Rails

Pay day will be Monday, February 26 for Missouri Pacific employees.

Frank Sims, machinist, has been recalled to work for the Union Pacific in Omaha, Neb., and has assumed his duties there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kinney spent the week-end visiting relatives and friends in St. Louis. Mr. Kinney is a machinist.

Oscar Harbit, pipelitter helper, was a business visitor in Kansas City Monday.

Engine No. 8442 which has been undergoing repairs at the shops was taken out for a break-in Wednesday.

Roy Gresham and Tom Soter, carman helpers, left Sunday for Alexandria, La., where they have been called to work with the Missouri Pacific at that point.

T. S. Greene, laborer who has been a patient in the Missouri Pacific hospital in St. Louis for the past several months receiving medical attention has returned home considerably improved.

W. E. Burfield, laborer, left Wednesday for St. Louis to enter the Missouri Pacific hospital to receive medical attention.

Eugene Gilliam, carman apprentice, left Tuesday for Kansas City where he has been transferred.

H. M. Kelly, general coach shop foreman, was confined to his home Wednesday suffering from an attack of the flu.

W. P. Staley, superintendent of power plant, is off duty on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith attended the funeral of a relative in Leeton, Mo., Sunday. Mr. Smith is a machinist.

Double Tragedy In A Triangle

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Doris Clayton, 29, promised she would return to her husband after keeping a Valentine's day tryst with a divorced business man.

She died—dead, after her body had lain unidentified 24 hours and her paramour, Charles Souza, had hanged himself.

George Clayton claimed the corpse yesterday and told officers of a strange triangle in which he condoned her "uncontrollable infatuation" for Souza, 45-year-old operator of a San Leandro collection agency.

Sheriff James J. McGrath and Coroner William F. Crosby said Souza had shot Mrs. Clayton, gulped poison and hanged himself.

Clayton, a steel worker, told investigators he had consented to his wife's trips with Souza in the hope she eventually would return to him.

He told interviewers his wife had promised not to see Souza after their Valentine's tryst.

"It was just one of those things," Clayton said. "I knew about this uncontrollable infatuation of hers but I felt in my heart that it would wear off and she would remain loyal to me."

Conservation Battle Begins

Resort Owners Are Chief Objectors, Ted Butler Says

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The first call to arms against the "farmers and sportsmen's alliance" to return game and fish law control to the legislature, was sounded here last night by Executive Secretary Ted Butler of the Conservation Federation of Missouri at a meeting of the Greene county chapter.

Taking resort owners to task "because they are chief objectors to the present wildlife setup," Butler urged listeners to "renew concentrated efforts and answer this challenge."

He pointed out that it was a 20-year struggle to free the game and fish department from politics, and "now you're remaining passive while this new alliance circulates hundreds of petitions to repeal the amendment creating the commission and undo all our work."

Butler stressed that resort owners protested the closed spring fishing, because it "cuts their revenue 25 or 30 per cent. Shall we permit resort owners, selfish and political interests to stampe us into destroying what is called the most ideal wildlife conservation setup ever formed in the United States."

W. C. Cain, Sedalia, who owns a Lake of the Ozarks resort, is temporary chairman of the alliance.

Former Sedalian To Law School

Wilbur E. Briggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Briggs, formerly of Sedalia, has entered the Columbia University School of Law, in Washington, D. C.

He will be remembered as a member of the Smith-Cotton high school track team in 1932-33. He also attended high school at Ft. Scott and Coffeyville, Kas., and the Wright school of St. Louis, after his father was transferred to St. Louis by the Missouri Pacific.

Mr. Briggs is employed in the government printing office. His classes are so arranged in the evenings allowing him to combine actual working experience in studying the federal government activities first hand.

Mr. Briggs' father, while in Sedalia was a clerk for the Missouri Pacific railroad and they resided at 318 West Seventh street this city prior to moving to St. Louis and Maplewood.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

STEAK may not be regarded as a specialty for Sunday dinner but at least it is a favorite dinner and steak prices are now lower than in many months. For the holiday and week-end dinners roast beef, lamb, or pork, turkeys or smoked ham are all very reasonable.

Butter prices dropped somewhat but like eggs there may be an upturn, due to last week's storm.

Many vegetables normally shipped from Florida and Texas at this season are scarce and high so that for variety you may wish to turn to canned vegetables, suggests Miss Cora Anthony of the A&P kitchen. Fresh peas, however, are inexpensive for the season.

The chief fresh fruits in market are apples, oranges, grapefruit and lemons. Even bananas are high. South American fruits where available are very reasonable in price.

Three Sunday dinners suggested for different budgets follow:

Low Cost Dinner
Boiled Smoked Shoulder
Mashed Potatoes New Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Deep Apple Pie Cheese
Tea or Coffee Milk

Moderate Cost Dinner
Tomato Juice
Roast Pork, Browned Sweet Potatoes
Corn Pudding
Bread and Butter
Jellied Fruits
Cookies Milk

Very Special Dinner
Consomme Julienne
Roast Turkey with Mushroom Stuffing
Mashed Yams Green Peas
Cranberry Sauce

FRESHER FLAVOR—MONEY SAVER!

ENGLISH MUFFINS

On a crisp cold night, let English Muffins take the spotlight. For novelty, variety, and downright goodness we recommend these crusty yeast muffins heaped in a wicker basket and served with lots of butter and jam. For tea or Sunday breakfast this British hot bread is ideal—and easily made, too. English Muffins, like pan-cakes, are baked on a griddle or frying pan just before serving, and they are good served hot or cold, and toasted, they're perfect.

ENGLISH MUFFINS

1 cup milk
3 tablespoons shortening
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 cake compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
1 egg
4 to 5 cups sifted soft wheat flour

Scald milk and pour over butter, salt and sugar. Soften yeast in water. Cool milk mixture to luke-warm and add yeast, egg and 2 cups flour. Stir to blend well, then knead in remaining flour until firm and elastic. Let rise until double in bulk (about 1½ hours). Knead down and roll out ¼ inch thick. Cut with large cookie cutter. Cover and let rise on board until double in bulk (about ¼ hour). When light, bake slowly on ungreased, heavy griddle or frying pan. Have griddle hot at first, then reduce heat so muffins will brown slowly. Bake 7 to 8 minutes on each side. Yield: About 12 four-inch muffins.

Enchiladas

(About 10)

Four tablespoons fat, 1 cup black ripe olives, 1-2 pound white cheese, 1 large onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon olive oil, 12 dried red chiles, 2 tablespoons fat, 3 tablespoons toasted bread-crumbs, 1 clove garlic, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Filling: Mince onion, salt, and wilt in olive oil. Grate cheese. Pit olives.

Chili Drench: Wipe chilis clean, stem, slit, remove seed veins and seeds. Cover with boiling water, cook until pulp separates from hulls. This should be a light puree. Heat fat in skillet. Brown flour or toasted bread-crumbs slightly. Add well-mashed garlic and vinegar. Simmer for 20 minutes. Assemble all ingredients and place a large, warmed platter on small table near stove. Keep chili sauce on stove, simmering very slowly.

In another skillet, heat fat and fry tortillas, one at a time. Do not fry crisp. Then immerse in chili and lift to warm platter. On half the chili-drench tortilla place one level tablespoon grated cheese, one level tablespoon minced onion, and one tablespoon pitted olives. Fold as turnover. Repeat process until platter is filled. Then pour over all the chili that is left sprinkle freely with grated cheese and minced onion. Garnish with balance of pitted olives. Place on warming shelf to keep hot, but not dry out.

Menu

Breakfast: Pineapple and lime juice, dry cereal, raisin muffins, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Egg curry in patty shells, green peas, frosted gingerbread, fruit bowl, tea, milk.

Dinner: Broiled lamb chops, scalloped onions and cheese, fresh vegetable salad, rhubarb, pie, coffee, milk.

Menu

Breakfast: Orange juice, fried ham, scrambled eggs, toasted raisin bread, coffee, milk.

Dinner: Chopped egg and green pepper, canapes, roast chicken, chestnut stuffing, giblet gravy, stuffed baked potatoes, buttered cauliflower, lettuce and grapefruit salad, steamed cherry pudding, foamy sauce, coffee, milk.

Supper: Tortillas, fruit bowl, tea or coffee, milk.

Ann leaned out . . . "I'm all right now. I had a dream."

CHAPTER I

ANN BROWN had the fidgets. To tell the truth, she was reaching the end of her own particular string and whether or not she would be able to hold on to the frayed end was a debatable question. It had been almost a year, 328 days, to be exact, since she had found her job—it couldn't be any stretch of imagination be called a position—in Mrs. Pringle's Make-Over Hat Shop. She had been desperately alone then. She was desperately alone now.

She heated creamed dried beef, frugally held over from the previous evening's dinner, on a gas plate in a corner of her uncomfortable little room. She made a slice of toast. She ladled four stewed figs into a dish and placed two cookies on a plate. To give her morale a lift, she took two precious silver spoons from a bureau drawer, reacting delightedly, as always, to their satiny luster. She tried to eat, really tried. It was useless. Getting water from the bathroom on the floor below, she washed the dishes. She wrapped the spoons in tissue and put them away. Then she tried all the usual things, an hour of constructive reading, a magazine story, the triumphant, happy ending adding to her depression. She played three games of solitaire. It was 8:30. Suffocating loneliness crowded in on her. The loneliness had become so real a thing that it seemed to have form and substance, terrifying form and substance.

Ann glanced at the evening paper, her eyes skipping over war news, avoiding the most recent murder. Turning to the society page, she looked at the pictures of brides and debutantes and out-of-town visitors. Suddenly her eyes widened.

"There," she said aloud, "that's the way I'll make my new dress." She studied the picture of a girl who had been caught by a candid camera as she stepped from a smart roadster. "That's just the way I'll make it." Ann cut out the picture and put it in her purse. It was 8:45.

Ann undressed. Taking her bath towel, praying for hot water, just a little hot water, she went to the ancient bathroom. Ann had the only room on the third floor of what had once been a fine old home. It was on Chicago's West Side and built before the city's elite decided upon the vicinity of Sheridan Drive as the correct address. Ann's miserable room had once quartered a servant.

It was a few minutes past 9 when she turned down the shabby worn coverings of her thin bed. Her beauty-loving fingers resented the feel of the cotton blanket and coarse sheet. She switched off her light, opened the window. The deep, broad casement window was the room's sole redeeming feature. Ann paused beside it, as soft spring air crept up from the alley below.

She gazed at a lighted window across the way. There he was, the big, dark young man. He sat in a wooden rocking chair, his cheek resting on a clenched fist, reading steadily.

Ann knew that she should not stand in her window and gaze at the young man. It wasn't polite. Just the same, she had done it often. Not that she was romantically interested in him—Ann was not romantically inclined. She had her own ideas concerning love. It was a luxury and luxuries were not for her.

She went to bed, lying tensely quiet. Dreading sleep, she lay with her eyes open. The dream might come if she slept and the dream was a shattering thing. She was always fighting her way through a crowd on a downtown street, part of the crowd, but invisible. In the dream she was justified this way and that, battered until she finally fell to the sidewalk, begging and pleading. Feet trampled her and she cried out.

No one heeded her cries, the feet trampled and kicked and scuffed until she awoke, sobbing her protests. Ann did not know that a psychiatrist would have credited her dream to a lonely fixation; she only knew that its recurrence was wrecking her nervous system.

She lay very still, her slim little body straight under the blanket. She was getting too thin. Eating alone, day in and day out, did not make for appetite.

Ann's hands clenched. It wasn't reasonable that a girl like herself, 20 years old, pretty enough, eager to make friends, should go on for 328 days utterly alone.

Pretty enough? That was putting it much too mildly. Ann had shining bronze hair, its golden highlights and lovely wave had been lavishly granted by nature. Her eyes were dark gray, wide and childish, her red mouth curved deliciously.

Sometimes Ann wondered how long she would continue to walk alone, how soon, for sheer want of companionship, she would respond to the masculine advances which constantly came her way. She tried to think of pleasant things. Her job—only $15 a week but just $15 better than nothing. There had been a rather dreadful time before she got the job. She was lucky that her fingers were clever enough to turn shapeless old hats into smart creations. Her new dress—the picture in the paper was stunning, it would be lovely for spring. Ann moved restlessly. The dress would be lovely but—where would she wear it? Who cared whether or not her clothes were lovely? Drowsiness crept over her.

SUDDENLY Ann was screaming. She was sitting up in the thin bed, a trembling hand pressed over her mouth to stop the screams. She had been under trampling feet, smothered, crushed—

"I heard you scream," Paul said . . . "Well—good night."

"Say—something wrong over there?" Ann's frightened face turned to the window. Pale yellow light shone from across the alley. She crouched under the blanket, still held by the horror of the dream.

"Say—what goes on?" Ann slid out of bed, her little feet hunting slippers, her hand reaching for a robe. She stumbled to the window and leaned out.

"Nothing goes on," she quavered. The young man leaned from his window, outlined clearly by a shaft of moonlight. The two windows were not more than 30 feet apart.

"Are you there? I can't see you." "I'm here." "I heard you scream." Ann tried to laugh. It was a shaken little sound. "I had a bad dream," she confessed.

"Oh, I say—that's a shame. All right now?" "Yes—all right now." She was crying, not because of the dream, but because of the rich sympathy in the young man's voice. It was as if his voice lifted her out of the way of the trampling feet.

"Well—good night." "Good night and—and thank you." ANN was restless and wide awake. Pulling down the blind, she switched on the light which dangled from the ceiling. She made a cup of cocoa and drank it slowly. Still in no mood for sleep, she sat down with the paper, turning to the personal column. Ann often read the intimate little items, they gave her a vicarious contact with the humming world about her. Her eyes slid downward and stopped at the word, "Lonely."

It was followed by a number, K295. "Refined gentleman wishes to make a friend," she read. "If interested please write." If Ann had found the phrase, "Object matrimony," she would not have given the personal another thought. But Lonely—it caught her interest. Someone else found the city a friendless place.

If the writer were only a girl—More than anything else Ann wanted a girl friend, someone with whom she could laugh and talk and go to the movies. A refined gentleman—well, a refined gentleman might be better than no one at all. Lonely—the pity of being lonely, the dreadful, heart-breaking pity.

Ann read the item again and again. Her cheeks grew flushed. She found paper and pen and ink. (To Be Continued)

Papers Praised For Battle On Venereal Disease

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

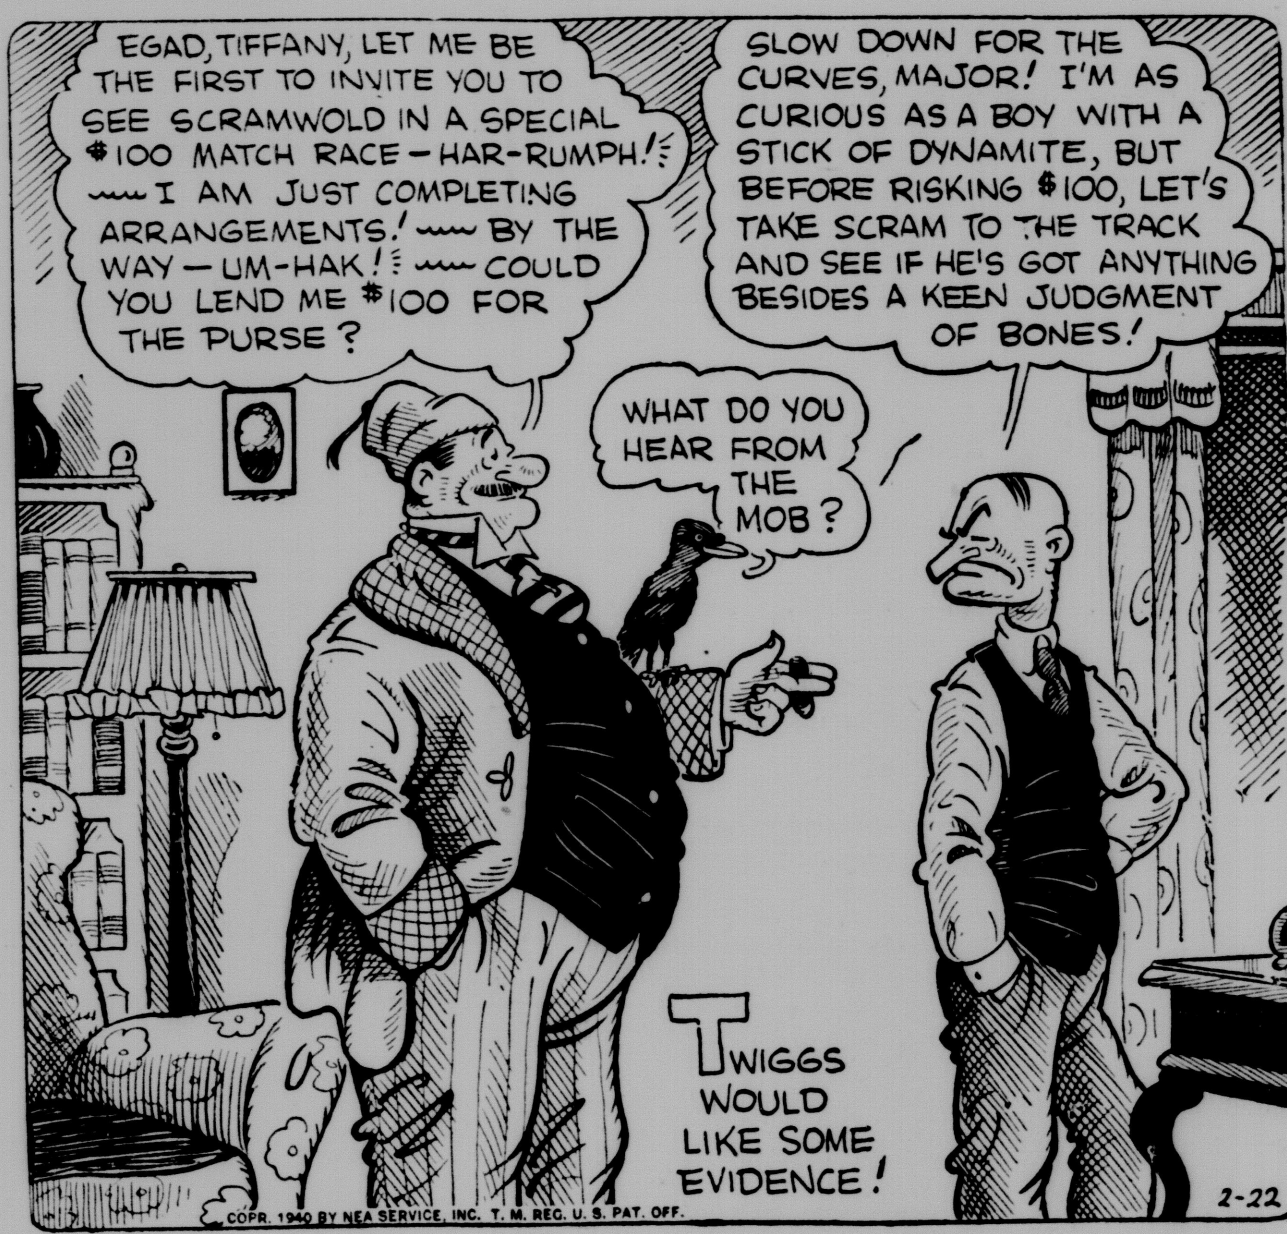

In the great campaign against the venereal diseases now under way in the United States, leadership must be credited to those newspapers and periodicals which brought the terms "syphilis" and "gonorrhea" out of the limbo of words never to be used and into the public light.

Credit must also go to Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon general of the U. S. Public Health Service, who made the attack on syphilis a major part of his program.
It has been said that 8 to 10 per cent of our population is infected with syphilis. Today we know that the statistics are not altogether reliable because of the taboos that exist against this disease and because of its hidden character.
Some countries have made great progress against syphilis. Formerly 6,000 new cases of syphilis were reported each year in Sweden; today, only 431 are reported each year. In Great Britain, in response to a national campaign with provision of free drugs for those unable to buy them, prevalence of syphilis decreased 50 per cent from 1920 to 1934.

The experiences of these nations show that syphilis can be controlled when people are willing to recognize the nature of the disease and attack it openly.
Since the passage of the La Follette-Bulwinkle bill, which provides $3,000,000 annually for the attack on syphilis, we are beginning to have many more Wassermann tests, and we are learning ing more about the distribution of syphilis.

Fortunately, it is no longer possible to look at any audience and say truthfully, "About one-tenth of you have syphilis." Wassermann tests made among all the pupils of two great universities showed less than two-tenths of one per cent infected with this disease. Yet, unquestionably there are other areas in the country in which 8 to 10 per cent of the people is infected, and there are certain localized spots in which as much as 25 to 30 per cent may be infected.

Stamp News

THE U. S. 3-cent Pan American Union commemorative, honoring the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Union, will be placed on first-day sale at Washington, D. C., on Sunday, April 14. The design is from a painting by Botticelli, depicting the Three Graces with clasped hands, to symbolize the friendship among the nations of North, South and Central America.

The Mark Twain stamp of the Famous Americans series set a new record for first-day sales of a 10-cent stamp. A total of 207,648 stamps was sold and 150,492 covers canceled at Hannibal, Mo., Feb. 13. The Philatelic Agency at Washington, D. C., reported 132,936 Mark Twain stamps sold on Feb. 14.

Six new postage values in two designs have been released by the Netherlands Indies. Three stamps show native scenery, three higher values picture Queen Wilhelmina.

Demaret Biggest Money Winner In Golf Tourney

Defeats Close Friend To Take Western Open

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 22.—(P)—Dimpled Jimmy Demaret, his test case proven, took his position today in the company of golf's impressive names.

Through wind, rain, cold, mud and sunshine, Jimmy carved his way to the Western Open championship.

Demaret had won the Texas PGA several times and each of the past three winters had won tournaments in California, but he never had made the complete tour with his fellows, so there lingered the suspicion he might lack lasting fitness.

Today, however, he has a stranglehold on competition for the Vardon trophy, is the year's biggest money winner, and there is not a pro who will deride his game.

Jimmy trimmed a close friend and frequent golfing partner, Tony Penna of Dayton, Ohio, to win the Western in an 18 hole playoff yesterday over the River Oaks course. Tony shot a 74 for the par 71 layout, four more than Jimmy required. They had tied at 293 the regulation 72 holes.

Penna, whose sole major tournament victory has been the Kansas City open two years ago, put the finishing touches to Demaret's case.

"He's one of the greatest golfers in the game from tee to green, and will be for another ten years."

Allen Favors Higher Baskets

LAWRENCE, Kas., Feb. 22.—(P)—Dr. F. C. Allen, Kansas University basketball coach who advocates raising the baskets to lessen the advantage of tall players, has a new idea.

He would create a safety zone around each goal and, in effect, virtually eliminate all shots within eight feet of the baskets.

Allen said the center jump was eliminated because of tall men but "instead of driving tall players out of the game the demand for them became even greater. A team no longer is defeated in the center of the court, at the jump, but at the backboards."

His safety zone would be a 16-foot circle with the basket as a center. Players could dribble in or out of the circle but could not drive in and shoot if another player was in the ring. Thus, a team could place a stationary guard in the circle and prevent enemy shots within the safety zone.

Allen also would abolish tip-in shots.

He demonstrated his safety zone in a clinic game and said he would propose it at a meeting of

Cronin To Rely On Pitching Staff

SARASOTA, Fla., Feb. 22.—(P)—Just how far the Boston Red Sox get in the 1940 American League pennant chase, Manager Joe Cronin believes, depends entirely on the pitching staff.

As for the rest of the lineup, which will include young Dominic DiMaggio, the Red Sox boss and shortstop says it's "all set."

With fellows like Jimmy Foxx, Bobby Doerr, Ted Williams, Jim Tabor, and Roger Cramer, we have plenty of powers," Cronin explained. "We haven't a great catching staff, but it is good

Tigers Play Mexico M. A. Here Tonight

Tommy Sanders And Melvin Winrod Will Not See Service

With two players on the sidelines with injuries and illness the Smith-Cotton Tigers basketball team will be badly handicapped tonight when they face the last-place conference team, Mexico Military Academy, on the local court.

Tommy Sanders, who was unable to play against Columbia Tuesday night, because of a twisted knee and Melvin Winrod, who saw only a little service against the Kewpies because of illness, will both be out of the game.

Winrod did not report to school yesterday and the bad knee is still bothering Sanders.

Charles Thompson and Leland Thomas will probably fill the gaps of the two veterans. Mexico has not won a conference game and will be battling to pull even with the Bengals, who have only one win.

There will be a junior high game at 7 o'clock between Sedalia and Smithton. Two referees, Elbert Shores and Raymond Peterson, will be used to keep a closer check on fouling. The senior high game starts at 8 o'clock.

Leads Fight For Smaller Ball

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN
COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 22.—(P)—While Dr. F. C. Allen, Kansas basketball coach, leads the fight for a smaller ball George Edwards, the mathematical tutor of Missouri's Big Six leaders, is experimentally quietly with larger hoops.

Fourteen players took 3,500 at the regulation 18-inch baskets and aimed a like number at 20-inch hoops from the same distances and angles.

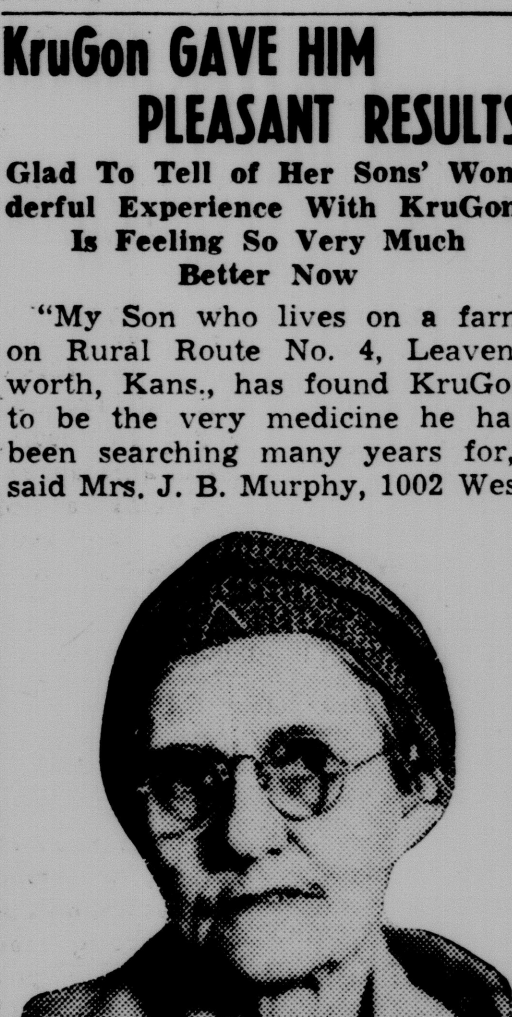

A total of 2,017 goals were scored in the wider hoops while only 1,731 slipped through the regulation baskets.

Edwards believes the increased scoring would find favor with the fans and adds "during the last decade almost every change in rules and equipment has been made only after concrete evidence of its value has been demonstrated by careful research."

Five members of the Missouri basketball team, co-champions last year, make their final home

KruGon GAVE HIM PLEASANT RESULTS
Glad To Tell of Her Sons' Wonderful Experience With KruGon: Is Feeling So Very Much Better Now

"My Son who lives on a farm on Rural Route No. 4, Leavenworth, Kans., has found KruGon to be the very medicine he had been searching many years for," said Mrs. J. B. Murphy, 1002 West

MRS. J. B. MURPHY
Marion St., Leavenworth, Kansas.
"He had been to different hospitals for treatments, had x-rays taken but simply could not get the relief he was wanting. Poor elimination had made a wreck of his digestion by the clogging of intestinal impurities until he simply could not eat a single meal without becoming deathly sick afterwards. It was also hard for him to retain enough nourishment for he had frequent spells of vomiting too. In this condition he was restless, nervous and spent hundreds of dollars seeking relief ... but everything he tried failed until he began KruGon."

"We did not think it possible for any medicine to take hold as KruGon did," continued Mrs. Murphy. "From the first few doses my Son began showing improvement. His stubborn case of constipation and poor elimination has been relieved now. It is almost unbelievable to think that he can now eat good nourishing foods without nauseating or vomiting spells afterwards. He has gained in strength and energy, nerves are calm and none of us can say enough good things about KruGon for all it has done for my Son."

KruGon is sold by McFarland & Robinson Drug Co., 104 W. Main St., this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. $1 per box, 6 for $5.00. We fill mail orders. Plus tax. Postage prepaid.—Adv.
